English Translation of the Tantrāloka

Foreword

Abhinava Gupta's magnum opus the 'Tantrāloka' is a great work in the ambience of tantrāgama treatise. This precept consists of right descriptions of almost all branches of śaiva and śākta āgama. The right will to translate the entire work into English (direct from Saṃskṛta) is arisen in the mind of Mr. Gautam Chatterjee. As the result, the translation work of the first chapter has been completed with illustrious footnotes. I pray to Lord Śiva, who blesses with his Triśūla of powers i.e. will, knowledge and action, may accomplish the translations of the entire work. I believe, all the scholars of the tantrāgama will appreciate this work with their blessings.

Situated on the upper portion of the Triśūla of Jñānaguru Lord Śamkara, Kāśi, represents the whole world, so it is quite natural that people from Bengal come here and stay. In such a family, on 18th August 1963 (Bhādrapada māsa), this child was born to enhance the joy of his mother Meera and father Amaresh Chandra Chatterjee, in order to flourish the grace of his lineage as his sun-sign is Leo (siṃhasthasūrya).

'Śiṣyaprajñeva bodhasya kāraṇam guruvākyataḥ', by such blessings from scriptures, the spiritual mother Rangama blessed and elevated this fortunate. After completing his education in science subjects from Banaras Hindu University, he cultivated his skill in the field of musicology, and drama-art. He performed his teachings in these subjects in Mahatma Gandhi Kashi Vidyapith. His mother Smt. Meera Devi was initiated (consecrated) by the ascetic Rangama and benefited by the teachings of great sages like Anandmayi Ma, M.M.Gopinath Kaviraja and others.

By the blessings of these great dignities, Gautam's interest arisen in the spirituality. He mastered himself by the grace of great scholars like Swami Lakshman Joo, Sri Govind Gopal Mukhopadhyay, Thakur Jaideva Singh and others in the area of literature, music art and Pratyabhijnāśāstra. He interviewed art stalwarts such as Satyajit Ray,

Kumar Gandharva, Kelucharan Mohapatra, Nirmal Verma, Badal Sircar and others and published it with the concerned seminars. He had keen interest in journalism so he enriched the journals Dharmayug, Svatantra Bharat, Rastriya Sahara and the Hindu with his talent, and got great fame.

At present, with Abhinava Gupta Academy, busy with the scholarly works regarding Nātyaśāstra and Pratyabhijñāśāstra, researches and seminars, Mr. Chatterjee is constantly engaged to accomplish his right resolves. I wish for the success of his zeal.

In 2006, he published his own collection of ten plays (as a playwright) 'Daśarūpaka' in Hindi. In the preface of this book, he has discussed the ideas of his own and other scholars. Here, the effort is praiseworthy but we can not approve every idea presented in this preface. Here discussed topics as the Buddhist tantras are inspired by Gautam Buddha, there are effects of Tantrās on Nātyaśāstra,the period mentioned here of Guhyasamājatantra, Prapañcasāratantra is the work of Ādya Śaṃkarācārya, the use of the word Sandhā Bhāṣā (the twilight or upside down language) are expected to have genuine proofs. We must not forget that the Jains are more harmonious to the nation than the Buddhists.

In the English translation of 'the Tantrāloka', Mr. Chatterjee has written valuable notes as required by the help of several works with great pain and hard work. His effort in this respect is very much appreciable. I stop myself by saying that this method should be followed in the entire work.

Vraja Vallabha Dvivedi (ex-head of the department of Sāṃkhya Yoga Tantrāgama in Sampurnanand Sanskrit Vishvavidyalay Varanasi)

Preface

May the light (or Parama Śiva, Anuttra), who is the creator of icchā, jñāna and kriyā by dint of His Śakti, whose reflection, this world is the grand splendour of His own Power, who is immanent and transcendent as well, who is inspired me to translate this work in another version, wipe out my ignorance, innate and intellectual, and transform my jīva bhāva into Śiva bhāva through re-cognition. This is the anugraha of Parama Śiva and my Guru that my heart is now the lotus-seat where rests my mother, Sarasvatī, the Citpratibhā Śakti. I bow down to my father, Parama Śiva with my mother and my great Guru who are now the splendors of my lotus heart.

Mortaly and immortaly, this is the grace of Pt. Iśvara Candra Vidyāsāgara, M. M. Pt. Gopīnātha Kavirāja, Svamī Laķsmaṇa Jū, J. Kṛṣṇamūrtī, Thākura Jaideva Singh and my revered Guruji Pt. Vraja Vallabha Dvivedī, and my great Guru Rāṅgāmā, that I have inspired to translate the magnum opus of my mānasa Guru Śrī Abhinava Gupta, the Tantrāloka from Sanskrit to English. My another respected teacher Srī Navjivan Rastogi, also inspired and informed me that Italian Translation of this work by R.Gnoali and English translation of first three āhnikas by Ira Bajpai (not yet published) have been completed already. I am grateful to all of them and pay my humble regards. I do acknowledge the initiative of my friend Śrī Dilip Jaiswal (the owner of Indica Books) who constantly encouraged for this work with my other soul friends. Thanks. Kindly bless me for this effort so that I can complete the whole work.

Let my heart throb which is pure, seat of art, creative by the coupling state of Śiva and Śakti, Śakti (mother Vimalāmbā Devī) who is creation, cosmos and the divine mother and Śiva (father Bharitatanu) who, the creator, expands, maintains and throbs with His five mouths, who offers the internal bliss and external expansion, and is full of bhāva, visarga and anuttara².

I bow down to the deity Pratibha who is beyond, infinite and rests in the supreme consciousness at the seat of divine lotus situated in the threefold state beyond mind.

^{1.} Emanation, creation, 2. The Highest, the Supreme, Parama Śiva, the Absolute (lit. one than whom nothing is higher), 3. Ever creative activity of Consciousness, the spontaneous Supreme Consciousness, Parā Śakti.

I bow down to that deity who is like lightning (sudden flash or bright light or sudden emergence of light) naturally produced from the rainy cloud spread out in the sky and who rests in the dancing body of Bhairava¹.

Let the three deities of svātantrya⁴, Krama⁵ and kramātmakatā⁶, which are the splendours (or supernormal powers) of Parama Śiva, flash in my inmost soul by revealing my Anuttara⁷ nature (or state).

^{1.} Parama Śiva, the Highest Reality (this is an anacrostic word, bha is bharaṇa means maintenance, ra is ravaṇa means withdrawal from manifestation or projection and va, vamana or projection of the world.)
2. Universal bliss, 3. Individual bliss, 4. The absolute autonomy of the Supreme, 5. The power of will to create the amazing Universe in time and space, 6. The inmost power of Śiva, also known as Śivātmikā Śakti, 7. The incomparable, the highest, the letter 'a'

(6)

Let Ganesha, son of the deity who is splendoured by the lights of all Devatās, knower of sense-mirage, flashed as cakreśvara, beautiful as the moon, rests in herself, enhance the ocean of my saṃvid¹ knowledge.

(7)

May God Macchanda please on me who made māyā out from the aura of Light. This māyā is like a net of bondages spread out by Rāga², Kalā³, Granthi⁴ and Bil⁵, emerge as red colour.

^{1.} Universal consciousness, Supreme Consciousness in which there is complete fusion of Prakāśa and Vimarśa, Jñāna-śakti, svātantrya-Śakti, the supreme I-consciousness, 2. Passion, intense desire for and attachment to an object, one of the Kañcukas of māyā on account of which there is limitation by desire, 3. Limited agency, limitation in respect of activity, another Kañcuka of māya, 4. bondage constituted by the modified thought, 5. land of enjoyment, in the form of vegina or the world,

(8)

All the ancient sages and spiritual Teachers who are the great, sincere and gracefull decendents of lord Trayambaka¹, are ever present.

Guru Srīkanṭhanātha is famous, victorious and present on this earth, and his other form God Maheshśvara Bhūṭirā is too famous in the similar way at all.

श्रीसोमानन्दबोधश्रीमदुत्पलविनिःसृताः जयन्ति संविदामोदसन्दर्मा दिक्प्रसर्पिणः । Śrī SomānandabodhaŚrīmadutpalaviniḥsṛtāḥ Jayanti Saṃvidāmodasandarbhā Dikprasarpiṇaḥ. (10)

The scent-sets of knowledge, spread-out in all directions, are great. This knowledge is imparted from Srī Utpaladeva who is the enlightened form of Śrĩ Somānanda.

or on comunation.

1. Tryambaka or Tryambakāditya is the procreated son of sage Durvāsā. In the ancient time, the mysteries of Śaivāgama rested inside the mouths of the sages. In the Kaliyuga, Śaivagamas were rare so, in the form of Śrĩkanṭha, Mahādeva, out of being desired to bless and offer to mankind, inspired Durvāsā to create scriptures which can't be destroyed, and then for this purpose, sage Durvāsā projected through pure conciousness this son, Trayambaka.

तदास्वादभरावेशबृंहितां मतिषट्पदीम् गुरोर्लक्ष्मणगुप्तस्य नादसंमोहिनीं नुमः ।

Tadāsvādabharāveśabṛnhitām matisatpadīm Gurorlakṣmaṇaguptasya nādasaṃmohinīm numaḥ. (11)

We bow down to the divine intellect of Guru Lakṣmaṇa Gupta which mesmerizes all the scholars by the ever-expanding Nāda¹ which is full of Āsvāda² and Āveśa³.

यः पूर्णानन्दविश्रान्तसर्वशास्त्रार्थपारगः स श्रीचुखुलको दिश्यादिष्टं मे गुरुरुत्तमः ।

Yaḥ pūrṇānandaviśrāntasarvaśāstrārthapāragaḥ Sa Śrīcukhulako diśyādiṣṭaṃ me gururuttamaḥ. (12)

May my best teacher (father) Śrī Cukhulaka fulfil my goal who rests in the blissfull tranquility and who has full command over all scriptures.

जयताज्जगदुद्घृतिक्षमोऽसौ भगवत्या सह शम्भुनाथ एकः यदुदीरितश्चासनांशुभिर्मे प्रकटोऽयं गहनोऽयं शास्त्रमार्गः ।

Jayatājjagaduddhṛtikṣamo'sau Bhagavatyā saha Śambhunātha ekaḥ Yadudīriritaśāsanāṃśubhirme Prakato'yaṃ gahano'yaṃ śāstramārgaḥ

May Lord Śaṃbhunātha be victorious who is capable to save the whole world, who is co-existed with Goddess Bhagawatī, who became the light by his Upadeśa⁴ through which the profound way to scriptures is flashed.

^{1.} The first movement of Śiva-Śakti towards manifestation, when Śakti fills up the whole universe with Nādānta, she is designated as Nāda. This is also sadāśiva tattva, 2. taste, 3. entry, absorption, 4. the first Uccāraṇa is called upadeśa, in Vyākaraṇa., the first Uccāraṇa of Pāṇini, Kātyāyana and Pataṇjali is Upadeśa.

सन्ति पद्धतयश्चित्राः स्त्रोतोमेदेषु भूयसा अनुत्तरषडर्यार्थकमे त्वेकापि नेक्ष्यते ।

Santi paddhatayaścitrāḥ strotobhedesu bhūyasā Anuttaraṣadardhārthakrame tvekāpi nekśyate.

Though there are several different amazing ways for the streams of knowledge, but no way is appropriate for the Anuttara Trika Artha¹.

इत्यहं बहुशः सद्भिः शिष्यसब्रहाचारिभिः अर्थितो रचये स्पष्टां पूर्णार्थां प्रक्रियामिमाम् ।

Ityaham bahusah sadbhih sisyasabrahācāribhih Arthito racaye spaṣtām pūrṇārthām prakryāmimām. (15)

So I am creating this process which is clear and complete because the humble discples and brahmacārins have prayed me several times.

श्रीभट्टनाथचरणाब्जयुगात्तथा श्री-भट्टारिकांघ्रियुगलाद् गुरुसन्ततिर्या बोधान्यपाशविषनुत्तदुपासनोत्य-बोधोज्ज्वलोऽभिनवगुप्त इदं करोति ।

(14)

I, Abhinavagupta, explaining this precept. I am the outcome of enlightened conciousness which eradicates the poison of bondage of the ignorance, and this is from our teacher's constant tradition as the pious feet of Śrī Bhattanātha and Śrī Bhattārika.

^{1.} The trio-meaning or the threefold meaning of that than whom nothing is higher.

न तदस्तीह यन्न श्रीमालिनीविजयोत्तरे देवदेवेन निर्दिष्टं स्वशब्देनाय लिङ्गतः ।

Na tadastīha yanna Śrīmālinīvijayottare Devadevena nirdistam svašabdenātha lingataḥ. (17)

No such subject is here in this scripture which is not present in Śrī Malinīvijayottara Tantra, as is indicated by the God of all gods Śańkara Himself.

दश्राष्टादश्रवस्वष्टिभन्नं यच्छासनं विभोः तत्सारं त्रिकशास्त्रं हि तत्सारं मालिनीमतम् ।

Daśāṣṭādaśavasvaṣṭabhinnam yacchāsanam vibhoḥ Tatsāram trikaśāstram hi tatsāram Mālinīmatam. (18)

The preachings of lord Śáńkara are of ten, eighteen and sixty four kinds. Trikaśāstra¹ is the Tatva² of all that, and Śrī Malinī Vijayottara Tantra's principle is the essence.

अतोऽत्रान्तर्गतं सर्वं संप्रदायोज्झितैर्बुधैः अदृष्टं प्रकटीकुर्मो गुरुनाथाज्ञया वयम् ।

Ato'trāntargatam sarvam sampradāyojjhitairbudhaiḥ Adrstam prakatīkurmo gurunāthājñayā Vayam. (19)

So I will present all these subjects which are rejected by the sects and visible by the scholars. This will be possible by the order of gurunātha in this scripture.

अभिनवगुप्तस्य कृतिः सेयं यस्योदिता गुरुभिराख्या त्रिनयनचरणसरोरुहचिन्तनलब्यप्रसिद्धिरिति ।

Abhinavaguptasya kṛitiḥ seyam yasyoditā gurubhirākhyā Trinayanacaraṇasaroruhacintanalabdhaprasiddhiriti. (20)

This is the creation of Abhinava Gupta which is prescribed and admired by the teachers and it is revealed before me by the grace of Lord Śańkara of three eyes as bowed down to His lotus feet.

^{1.} Śāstra is scripture and Trika is the system of philosophy of the triadnara, śakti and śiva, or para, the highest concerned with identity, parāpara and apara, 2. Thatness, principle, reality, the very being of a thing.

श्रीश्रम्भुनाथमास्करचरणनिपातप्रभापगतसङ्कोवम् अभिनवगुप्तहृदम्बुजमेतद्विचिनुत महेश्रपूजनहेतोः ।

Śrīśambhunāthabhāskaracaraṇanipātaprabhāpagatasaṅkocam Abhinavaguptahrdambujametadvicinuta Maheśapūjanahetoḥ. (21)

Choose for the worship of Maheśa, this lotus-heart of the Abhinava Gupta whose Ignorance is destroyed by the beams of the feet of the sun as Śrī Śaṃbhunātha.

इह तावत्समस्तेषु शास्त्रेषु परिगीयते अज्ञानं संसुर्हेतुज्ञीनं मोक्षैककारणम् ।

Iha tāvatsamasteşu śāstreşu parigīyate ajñānaṃ saṃsṛrheturjñānaṃ mokṣaikakārṇam. (22)

It says in all scriptures of this world that ajñāna¹ is the cause of creation and jñāna² is the cause of mokṣa (salvation).

मलमज्ञानमिच्छन्ति संसाराङ्कुरकारणम् इति प्रोक्तं तथा च श्रीमालिनीविजयोत्तरे ।

Malamajñānamicchanti saṃsārānkurakāraṇam Iti proktaṃ tathā ca Śrĩmālinīvijayottare.

Scholars consider ignorance as dross (or impurity). It is the cause of the germination of the world, as it is said in the Śrīmalinīvijayottara.

विशेषणेन बुद्धिस्थे संसारोत्तरकालिके संभावनां निरस्यैतदभावे मोक्षमब्रवीत् ।

Visesanena buddhisthe saṃsārottarakālike Saṃbhāvanāṃ nirasyaitadabhāve mokṣamabravīt. (24)

(23)

Since this adjective 'saṃsārāṅkurakāraṇam',is used, so the salvation takes place (by dint of Pauruṣa jñāna³) in the absence of bauddha jñāna⁴ for those who live after their causal bodies.

^{1.} Ignorance, 2. Knowledge, 3. Ātmagata, concerning to self which leads to salvation, 4. Buddhigata, concerning to intellect which leads to creation

अज्ञानमिति न ज्ञानाभावश्चातिप्रसङ्गतः स हि लोष्ठादिकेऽप्यस्ति न च तस्यास्ति संसृतिः । Ajñānamiti na jñānābhāvaścātiprasaṅgataḥ Sa hi loṣṭhādike'pyasti na ca tasyāsti saṃsṛtiḥ.

(25)

The meaning of ignorance is not the absence of knowledge. If we consider that it is, then it is hyperbolic. The absence of knowledge exists in a clay-ball etc. but yet it maintains the fact.

अतो ज्ञेयस्य तत्त्वस्य सामस्त्येनाप्रथात्मकम् ज्ञानमेव तदज्ञानं शिवसूत्रेषु भाषितम् ।

Ato jñeyasya tattvasya sāmastyenāprathātmakam jñānameva tadajñānam Śivasūtreṣu bhāṣitam.

(26)

So this term ajñāna (ignorance) is considered in the Śiv a sūtras as the knowledge which is not manifested fully in the knowable tattvas (principles).

वैतन्यमात्मा ज्ञानं च बन्य इत्यत्र सूत्रयोः संश्लेषेतरयोगाम्यामयमर्थः प्रदर्शितः।

Caitanyamātmā jñānam ca bandha ityatra sūtrayoḥ Saṃśleṣetarayogābhyāmayamarthaḥ pradarśitaḥ.

(27)

This meaning is shown in the aphorisms 'Caitanyamātmā' and Jñānambandhaḥ' by the sandhi and other yogas.

^{1.} This is the first aphorism of Siva (compiled by Vasu Gupta) means that awareness is the Self, 2. This is the second aphorism means, to know is to bind, 3. The first principle of Sanskrta Grammer,

चैतन्यमिति भावान्तःश्रब्दःस्वातन्त्र्यमात्रकम् अनाक्षिप्तविशेषं सदाह सूत्रे पुरातने ।

Caitanyamiti bhāvāntaḥśabdasvātantryamātrakam Anākṣiptaviśeṣam sadāha sūtre purātane.

(28)

In this first aphorism of Śiva sūtra, if we consider this word 'caitanyam' as the end of the bhāva, it only tells the svātantrya sat¹ which is without the special ākṣepa².

द्वितीयेन तु सूत्रेण कियां वा करणं च वा बुवता तस्य चिन्मात्ररूपस्य द्वैतमुच्यते ।

Dvitīyena tu sūtreņa kriyām vā karņam ca vā Bruvatā tasya cinmātrarūpasya dvaitamucyate.

(29)

That cinmātrarūpa³ is called dialect which is derived from the second aphorism as kriyā⁴.

द्वैतप्रथा तदज्ञानं तुच्छत्वाद् बन्ध उच्यते तत एव समुच्छेद्यमित्यावृत्त्यनिरूपतिम् ।

Dvaitaprathā tadajñānam tucchatvād bandha ucyate Tata eva samucchedyamityāvrittyanirūpatim.

(30)

Which manifests in two forms is ignorance and it is bondage for it is dross. So it is said repeatedly that it is a veil which can be destroyed.

स्वतन्त्रात्मातिरिक्तस्तु तुच्छोऽतुच्छोऽपि कश्चन न मोक्षो नाम तन्नास्य पृथङ्नामापि गृह्यते ।

Svatantrātmātiriktastu tuccho'tuccho'pi kaścana Na mokso nāma tannāsya pṛthannāmāpi gṛhyate.

(31)

There exists no salvation except the liberated soul either it is pity or non-pity. That is why no other name is formed for this (salvation).

- 1. The truth of the freewill of Parama Siva, 2. superimposition, 3. matter,
- 4. The verbal aspect of action.

यत्तु न्नेयसतत्त्वस्य पूर्णपूर्णप्रथात्मकम् तदुत्तरोत्तरं न्नानं तत्तत्संसारश्रान्तिदम् ।

Yattu jñeyasatattvasya pūrņapūrņaprathātmakam Taduttarottaram jñānam tattatsamsārasāntidam.

(32)

That tattva is the bestower of peace (and salvation) which is knowable sat tattva, which possesses the nature of complete expansion and which manifests its Knowledge growingly.

रागाद्यकलुषोऽस्यन्तःशून्योऽहं कर्तृतोज्झितः इत्यं समासव्यासाम्यां ज्ञानं मुचति तावतः ।

Rāgādyakaluso'smyantaḥśūnyo'haṃ kartṛtojjhitaḥ Itthaṃ samāsavyāsābhyāṃ jñānaṃ muñcati tāvataḥ.

(33)

I am not impured by the $R\bar{a}ga^{I}$ etc., I am the inner void and I am devoid of the duties- This kind of knowledge (either got complete at a time or partially) liberates the soul from the three impurities².

तस्मान्मुक्तोऽप्यवच्छेदादवच्छेदान्तरस्थितेः अमुक्त एव मुक्तस्तु सर्वावच्छेदवर्जितः ।

Tasmānmukto 'pyavacchedādavacchedāntarasthiteh Amukta eva muktastu sarvāvacchedavarjitah.

(34)

The individual soul is still not-liberated due to other partial bondage though it is partially liberated. Actually he, who is free from all bondages, is liberated.

^{1.} It is one of the bondages (Kañcuka), 2. In Kāśmīr Śaivism, three kinds of impurities are stated-Āṇava, Mayīya and Kārma.

यत्तु ज्ञेयसतत्त्वस्य ज्ञानं स्वात्मनोज्झितम् अवच्छेदैर्न तत्कुत्राप्यज्ञानं सत्यमुक्तिदम् ।

Yattu jñeyasatattvasy.: jñānam svātmanojjhitam Avacchedairna tatkutrāpyajñānam satyamuktidam. (35)

Which is free from all kinds of obstructions(avaccheda¹), so that it is not ignorance in any way, on the contrary, it is the knowledge of the knowable, is the bestower of true salvation.

ज्ञानाज्ञानस्वरूपं यदुक्तं प्रत्येकमप्यदः द्विघापौरुषबौद्धत्वभिदोक्तं शिवशासने ।

Jñānājñānasvarūpam yaduktam pratyekamapyadaḥ Dvidhāpauruṣabauddhatvabhidoktam Śivaśāsane. (36)

Already stated, the svarūpa, of knowledge and ignorance is of two kinds by the divisions of Pauruṣa and Bauddha, as is said in Pārameśvara darśana.

तत्र पुंसो यदज्ञानं मलाख्यं तज्जमप्यथ स्वपूर्णचित्क्रियारूपश्चितावरणात्मकम् ।

Tatra punso yadajñānam malākhyam tajjamapyatha Svapūrņacitkryārūpasitāvaranātmakam. (37)

The ignorance of Puruṣa, which is dross, which is germinated from the $Parapramāt\bar{a}$, $Puruṣa^3$, which veils the Siva-form of knowledge, lies in the $Pas\bar{u}$ too in a form of manifestation.

सङ्कोचिदृिक्कयारूपं तत्पशोरविकल्पितम् तदज्ञानं न बुद्घ्यंशोऽष्यवसायाद्यभावतः । Sankocidrkkriyrūpam tatpaśoravikalpitam Tadajñānam na buddhyanso'dhyavasāyādyabhāvatah. (38)

That ignorance is not the part of intellect for there does not exist certainty.

^{1.} Obstuctions which arise from the determination of contraction by the objective consciousness i.e. idantāparāmarša 2. The real nature, 3. Śiva is the parapramātā rūpa.

अहमित्यमिदं वेद्मीत्येवमध्यवसायिनी षट्कंचुकाबिलाणूत्यप्रतिबिम्बनतो यदा ।

Ahamitthamidam vedmītyevamadhyavasāyinī Şatkañcukābilāṇūtthapratibimbanato yadā.

(39)

यीर्जायते तदा तादृग्ज्ञानम्ज्ञानशब्दितम्

बौद्धं तस्य च तत्पौँस्नं पोषणीयं च पोष्टृ च ।

Dhīrjāyate tadā tādṛgjñānamajñānaśabditam
Bauddhaṃ tasya ca tatpaunsnaṃ poṣaṇīyaṃ ca poṣtṛ ca. (40)

When the intellect of certainty (niścayātmikā buddhi, śakti') arises as 'l know this is this way' out of the reflection of the molecule of the six veils(kañcukas²), the knowledge is called as bauddha ajñāna. The pauruṣa ajñāna is the effect as well as the cause of the bauddha ajñāna.

क्षीणे तु पश्चसंस्कारे पुंसः प्राप्तपरस्थितेः विकस्वरं तद्विज्ञानं पौरुषं निर्विकल्पकम् ।

Kṣīṇe tu paśusaṃskāre punsaḥ prāptaparasthiteḥ Vikasvaraṃ tadvijñānaṃ pauruṣaṃ nirvikalpakam. (41)

This is called Pauraṣa knowledge which arises as *vikasvara-nirvikalpa - vijñāna*³ from the Parama state of the Puruṣa whose Paśu—conditioning has been faint

विकस्वराविकल्पात्मज्ञानौचित्येन यावता तदुबौद्धं यस्य तत्पौसनं प्राग्वत्पोष्यं च पोष्ट्र च ।

Vikasvarāvikalpātmajñānaucityena yāvatā Tadabauddham yasya tatpaunsnam prāgvatposyam ca postr ca. (42)

The Paurusa Knowledge is the feeder of the bauddha knowledge which is the state of vikasvara nirvikalpa self - knowledge.

1. The doubtfull or questioning mind is called saṃśayātmikā śakti and the answering mind is called niścayātmikā śakti, in the similar way, niścayātmikā buddhi should be meant, 2. the six veils or covering known as māyā, kalā, vidyā, rāga, kāla and niyati, 3. unaltered vimarśa.

तत्र दीक्षादीना पौँस्नमज्ञानं ध्वंसि यद्यपि तथापि तच्छरीरान्ते तज्ज्ञानं व्यज्यते स्फूटम् ।

Tatra dīkṣādīnā paunsnamajnānam dhvansi yadyapi Tathāpi taccharīrānte tajjñānam vyajyate sphutam.

(43)

Though the Pauruṣa ignorance is fleeting and distructible due to initiation etc, yet after the end of the body (in which the initiation has been taken place), that soul knowledge manifests vividly.

बौद्धज्ञानेन तु यदा बौद्धमज्ञानजृष्मितम् विलीयते तदा जीवन्मुक्तिः करतले स्थिता । Bauddhajnānena tu yadā bauddhamajñānajṛmbhitam Vilīyate tadā jīvanmuktiḥ karatale sthitā. (44)

The life-salvation sets in *karatala*¹ when the expansion of bauddha ignorance stops by dint of bauddha knowledge.

दीक्षापि बौद्धविज्ञानपूर्वा सत्यं विमोचिका तेन तत्रापि बौद्धस्य ज्ञानस्यास्ति प्रधानता । Dikṣāpi bauddhavijñānapūrvā satyaṃ vimocikā Tena tatrāpi bauddhasya jñānasyāsti pradhānatā. (45)

It is true that the initiation which liberates (at first for the bauddha), is science. That is why the predominance of bauddha knowledge is there.

^{1.} The clapping in the midst of the collision of one's both palms

ज्ञानाज्ञानागतं चैतद् द्वित्वं स्वायम्भुवे ठरौ मतङ्गादौ कृतं श्रीमत्खेटपालादिदैशिकैः।

Jñānājñānāgatam caitad dvitvam svāyambhuve rurau Matangādau kṛtam Śrīmatkheṭapālādidaiśikaiḥ

(46)

In accordence with knowledge and ignorance, these two types (of knowledge as Bauddha and Paurusa) are stated (and established) by $\bar{A}c\bar{a}rya$ $Khetap\bar{a}la$ and others in $Sv\bar{a}yambhuva$, Ruru and Matanga $(S\bar{a}stras)^1$.

तथाविद्यावसायात्मबौद्धविज्ञानसम्पदे शास्त्रमेव प्रधानं यज्ज्ञेयतत्त्वप्रदर्शकम् ।

Tathāvidhāvasāyātmabauddhavijñānasampade Śāstrameva pradhānam yajjñeyatattvapradarśakam. (47)

Śāstra is the main thing. Śastra is the torch-bearer of the knowable, certains the Bauddha Vijñāna².

दीक्षया गलितेऽप्यन्तरज्ञाने पौरुषात्मनि धीगतस्यानिवत्तत्वाद्विकल्पोऽपि हि सम्भवेत ।

Dīkṣayā galite'pyantarajñāne pauruṣātmani Dhīgatasyānivrttatvādvikalpo'pi hi sambhavet.

(48)

There still maintain the alternatives (doubts) because of not-destroyed of intellectual ignorance though the self-ignorance has been destroyed by dint of the initiation.

1. Śastra is scripture. Ācārya is scholar. Svāyambhuva Śāstra explains that Śiva-Jñāna descends (this is śaktipāta) to manifest the Śivatva (the state of being Śiva) and liberates the soul from the bondage of self-dross (Ātma-mala i.e. āṇava, māyīya and Kārma). Ruru Śāstra explains as we must contemplate on Śiva for all the devatas, mantras are the light of Śiva, everything is Śiva. Matanga Śastra (i.e. Matanga Tantra) says 'and then Śiva, ornamented by jewels and mantras, destroyed the entire ignorance of muni with the fire of Vāk, the flame of power'. Ācārya Khetapala is Sadyojyoti Śivācārya. 2. The way to know the Bauddha Jñāna is Bauddha Vijñāna.

देहसद्भावपर्यन्तमात्मभावो यतो यियि देहान्तेऽपि च मोक्षःस्यात्पौरुषाज्ञानहानितः ।

Dehasadbhāvaparyantamātmabhavo yato dhiyi Dehante'pi ca mokṣaḥṣyātpaurṣājñānahānitaḥ. (49)

Since the sense of self maintains about the intellect of the body till end, therefore the salvation will not come into existence (until the intellectual ignorance is destroyed) though the self ignorance is destroyed.

बौद्धाज्ञाननिवृत्तौ तु विकल्पोन्मूलनाद् ध्रुवम् तदैव मोक्ष इत्युक्तं धात्रा श्रीमन्त्रिशाटने ।

Bauddhājñānanivṛttau tu vikalponmūlanād dhruvam Tadaiva mokṣa ityuktaṃ dhātrā Śrīmanniśāṭane. (50)

The salvation comes into existence certainly (then and there) when the intelluctal ignorance and the alternatives are destroyed, as it is said by Dhātā in Niśātanaśāstra.

विकल्पयुक्तचित्तस्तु पिण्डपाताच्छिवं व्रजेत् इतरस्तु तदैवेति शास्त्रस्यात्र प्रधानतः । Vikalpayuktacittastu pindapātācchivam vraiet

Itarastu tadaiveti šāstrasyātra pradhānatah. (51)

The man whose mindstuff is full of alternatives, gets salvation (Śivatva) after the end of the body whereas the other, whose heart is free from alternatives (or concentrated on one), attains salvation while living in the body, for this is the subject prime in this scripture.

ज्ञेयस्य हि परं तत्त्वं यः प्रकाशात्मकः शिवः नह्मप्रकाशरूपस्य प्राकाश्यं वस्तुतापि वा ।

Jñeyasya hi param tattvam yah prakāśātmakah Śivah Nahyaprakāśarūpasya prākāśyam vastutāpi vā. (52)

He who is the light-form of \dot{Siva} , is the absolute of the knowable. He who is not the light-form, does not even exist and having no light at all.

अवस्तुतापि भावानां चमत्कारैकगोचरा यत्कुड्यसदृशी नेयं धीरवस्त्वेतदित्यपि ।

Avastutāpi bhāvānām camatkāraikagocarā Yatkudyasadṛśī neyaṃ dhīravastvetadityapi.

(53)

The no-thing-ness of the matter is only the subject of miracle, for this intellect (which senses it as no-thing) is not like a wall (as inert) but is a form of enlightenment.

प्रकाशो नाम यश्चायं सर्वत्रैव प्रकाशते अनपहनवनीयत्वातु किंतस्मिन्मानकल्पनैः।

Prakāśo nāma yaścāyam sarvatraiva prakāśate Anapahnahavanīyatvāt kim tasminmānakalpanaih. (54)

That which is luminous in everywhere is the light. Since it is unconcealable, why should imagine for the Proofs (of that)!

प्रमाणान्यपि वस्तूनां जीवितं यानि तन्वते तेषामपि परो जीवः स एव परमेश्वरः ।

Pramāṇānyapi vastūnām jīvitam yāni tanvate Teṣāmapi paro jīvah sa eva Parameśvarah.

(56)

People belive on the proofs which are the living basis of the things but there exists a proof as the basis of all proofs which is one, beyond and Vimarśātmaka Prakāśa¹. He is the Parameśvara.

सर्वापह्नवहेवाकथर्माप्येवं हि वर्तते ज्ञानमात्मार्थमित्येतन्नेति मां प्रति भासते ।

Sarvāpahnavahevākadharmāpyevam hi vartate Jñānamātmārthamityetanneti mām prati bhāsate.

All the wise people behave like this, who will to abstain the matters of the knower, the knowledge and the knowable. They accept their Self-Existence (where they feel that that knowledge does not dwell in themselves which is for the self), and that Self-Existence is Parameśvara.

^{1.} The Self-conscious Light

ŚRĨTANTŖĀLOKAḤ

अपह्वुतौ साघने वा वस्तूनामाद्यमीदृशम् यत्तत्र के प्रमाणानामुपपत्युपयोगिते।

Apahvutau śamsādhane vā vastūnāmādyamīdr Yattatra ke ānāmupapattyupayogite,pramān

(57)

Since the matters are initially proved so what is the usefulness of the proofs and its originations!

कामिके तत एवोक्तं हेतुवादिववर्जितम् तस्य देवातिदेवस्य परापेक्षा न विद्यते । परस्य तदपेक्षत्वात्स्वतन्त्रोऽयमतः स्थितः

Kāmike tata evoktam hetuvādavivarjitam

Tasya ā na vidyate devātidevasya parāpeks
atvātsvatantro'yamatahParasya tadapeks sthitah

(58)

So it is said in the Kāmika Śāstra without any cause and ism that the lord of all lords does not expect the other. Since the other expect Him in himself so He is self-proved (58-59)

अनपेक्षस्य विश्वनी देशकालाकृतिकमाः । नियता नैति स विभुर्नित्यो विश्वकृतिः शिवः tikramāḥasya vaśino deśakālākrAnapeks (59) tiḥNiyatā neti sa vibhurnityo viśvakr Śivah

That worldform of $\dot{S}iva$ is infinite and eternal for it is not subjugate, not of the form of time and space, and not fixes itself. (59-60)

विभुत्वात्सर्वगो नित्यभावादाद्यन्तवर्जितः । विश्वाकृतित्त्वाच्चिदचित्तद्वैचित्र्यावभासकः ततोऽस्य बहुरूपत्वमुक्तं दीक्षोत्तरादिके ।

Vibhutvātsarvago nityabhāvādādyantavarjitaḥ (60)

Viśvākṛtittvāccidacittadvaicitryāvabhāsakaḥ

Tato'sya bahurūpatvamuktam dikşottarādike. (61)

This is infinite so this is omni-movable movement. This is eternal so this is free from beginning and end, and this is of the form of the world, so this shows the amazing forms of conscious and non-conscious beings.

(60-61)

भुवनं विग्रहो ज्योतिः खं शब्दो मन्त्र एव च बिन्दुनादादिसॉभन्नः षड्वियः शिव उच्यते ।

Bhuvanam vigraho jyotih kham sabdo mantra eva ca Bindunādādisambhinnah sadvidhah Śiva ucyate.

Bhuvana, vigraha, jyoti, ākāśa, śabda and mantra are the bases of joy, the body-form, the flame, the sky (space), the word (essence of the space) and the sacred syllables, this six forms rest in the name of Śiva due to their associations with nāda and bindu.

यो यदात्मकतानिष्ठस्तद्भावं स प्रपद्यते व्योमादिशब्दविज्ञानात् परो मोक्षो न संशयः ।

Yo yadātmakatānişthastadbhāvam sa prapadyate vyomādiśabdavijñānāt paro mokṣo na saṃśayah.

(63)

The aspirant attains the accomplishment (of \dot{Siva}) in the form in which he has faith. The salvation is beyond the science of words like space etc., and that is doubtless¹.

विश्वाकृतित्त्वे देवस्य तदेतच्चोपलक्षणम् अनवच्छिन्नतारूढाववच्छेदलयेऽस्य च ।

Viśvākṛtittve devasya tadetaccopalakṣaṇam Anavacchinnatārūrhāvavacchedalaye'sya ca.

(64)

The iconographical representations of god (Parama Śiva) are the world-form, the seat of non-separation and the dissolution of divisions. There are six in numbers.

^{1.} Doubt is questioning mind, vikalpa or alternative, concerning to Samśayātmikā Śakti. Doubtless or free from doubt is optionless, nirvikalpa, concerning to Niścayātmikā Śakti, the answering mind.

उक्तं च कामिके देवः सर्वाकृतिर्निराकृतिः जलदर्पणवत्तेन सर्वं व्याप्तं चराचरम् ।

Uktam ca Kāmike devah sarvākṛtirnirākṛtih Jaladarpaṇavattena sarvam vyāptam carācaram.

(65)

(66)

It is said in the $K\bar{a}mika$ $\bar{a}gama$ that the god (the deity, Siva) is of all forms and formless ($vi\acute{s}vamaya$ and $vi\acute{s}vott\bar{t}rna$). Each and everything (inert and conscious) exists in Himself like the water-mirror.

न चास्य विभुताद्योऽयं धर्मोऽन्योन्यं विभिद्यते एक एवास्य धर्मोऽसौ सर्वाक्षेपेण वर्तते । तेन स्वतन्त्र्यशक्तयैव युक्त इत्यांजसो विधिः

Na cāsya vibhutādyo'yaṃ dharmo'nyonyaṃ vibhidyate Eka evāsya dharmo'sau sarvākṣepeṇa vartate. Tena svatantryaśaktyaiva yukta ityāñjaso vidhiḥ

This has only one religon² which includes all the religions. Hence it is always with its *svātantrya śakti*³. This is the only way.

बहुशक्तित्वमप्यस्य तच्छक्त्यैवावियुक्तता । Bahuśaktitvamapyasya tacchaktyaivāviyuktata. (67)

This manifests with several powers, inspite of that, this does not separate (or depart) from its own (svātantrya) power.

^{1.} This is an imagery presented by Abhinava Gupta as the city in the mirror. He tries to say that all things reflected in the water prove that the things are really existents. Similarly the world is a reflection of Parama Śiva reflecting in His Consciousness (the svātantrya), 2. That intrinsic relgion is ahampratyavamarśa, 3. Absolute freedom of will, Vimarśa śakti,

शक्तिश्च नाम भावस्य स्वं रूपं मातृकल्पितम् तेनाद्वयः स एवापि शक्तिमत्परिकल्पने ।

Śaktiśca nāma bhāvasya svam rūpam matrkalpitam Tenādvayah sa evāpi śaktimatparikalpane.

(68)

The power is matter's own form, imagined by the $pram\bar{a}t\bar{a}s^1$, so, though this seems as $\dot{s}aktim\bar{a}na^2$, this is $advaya^3$.

मातृक्लुप्ते हि देवस्य तत्र तत्र वपुष्यलम् को भेदो वस्तुतो वहनेर्दग्धृपक्तृत्वयोरिव ।

Mātṛklṛpte hi devasya tatra tatra vapuṣyalam Ko bhedo vastuto vahnerdagdhṛpaktṛtvayoriva

(69)

Though this is imagined by pramātās, and the Parameśvara rests in different bodies, how one can say the Parameśvara is different! Actually the Parameśvara is one with many powers like the many powers of fire are not different from fire.

न चासौ परमार्थेन न किंचिद्भासनादृते नद्गस्ति किंचितच्छक्तितद्वदृभेदोऽपि वास्तवः ।

Na cāsau paramārthena na kiñcidbhāsanadrte Nahyasti kiñcitacchaktitadvadbhedo'pi vāstavah.

(70)

His desire is nothing but his manifestation. So the difference of Śakti and Śaktimāna is a reality.

स्वन्नक्त्युद्रेकजनकं तादात्म्याद्वस्तुनो हि यत् शक्तिस्तदपि देव्येवं भान्त्यप्यन्यस्वरूपिणी ।

Svaśaktyudrekajanakam tādātmyādvastuno hi yat Śaktistadapi devyevam bhāntyapyanyasvarūpiņī.

(71)

That which is the creater of the appearance of self-power (of the avāntara), is the same amazing Svātantrya Śakti of God.

^{1.} Knower, subject, experient, 2. Siva, 3. One without a second.

शिवश्चालुप्तविभवस्तथा सृष्टोऽवभासते स्वसंविन्मातृमकुरे स्वातन्त्र्याद्भावनादिषु ।

Śivaścāluptavibhavastathā Sṛṣṭo'vabhāsate Svasaṃvinmātṛmakure svātantryādbhāvanādişu.

(72)

Śiva appears as the Universe by dint of His Absolute Freedom of Will in His Supreme Consciousness which is like a mirror called pramātṛdarpaṇa, in spite of this appearance, His treasure does not disappear.

तस्माद्येन मुखेनैष भात्यनंशोऽपि तत्तथा शक्तिरित्येष वस्त्वेव शक्तितद्वत्क्रमः स्फुटः ।

Tasmādyena mukhenaişa bhātyanamśo pi tattathā Śaktirityeşa vastveva śaktitadvatkramah sphutah.

(73)

The thing itself is the power through which Siva appears. Hence the $krama^1$ is clear, exists in Śakti and Śaktimāna.

श्रीमिकरणशास्त्रे च तद्यश्नोत्तरपूर्वकम् अनुभावो विकल्पोऽपि मानसो न मनः शिवे । अविज्ञाय शिवं दीक्षा कथमित्यत्र चोत्तरम्

Śrīmatkiranaśastre ca tatpraśnottarapūrvakam Anubhāvo vikalpo pi mānaso na manah Śive. Avijñāya Śivam dīkṣā kathamityatra cottarm.

(74)

It is said in the form of question-answer in $S\tilde{r}i$ Kiran Samhitā that the Sakti is $Up\bar{a}ya$. The $Samhit\bar{a}$ answers (to) this question that the $Samhit\bar{a}$ answers (to) this question that the $Samhit\bar{a}$ is $Samhit\bar{a}$ is $Samhit\bar{a}$ in the mind, and $Samhit\bar{a}$ is 'no-mind' state, then how the initiation is possible if we can not know the mind of Samhita is 'no-mind'.

^{1.} Realisation of Self by means of Kriyā Yoga.

सुषाद्यनुभवो नैव विकल्पो निह मानसः । Ksudhadyanubhavo naiva vikalpo nahi mānasah. (75)

The answer is: This is not so. The experience of desire etc.is full of thought-constructs but the $m\bar{a}nasa$ is not. In the state of Advaya Knowledge, the mind can not attribute.

रसाद्यनष्यसत्वेऽपि रूपादेव यथा तरुम् विकल्पो वेत्ति तद्वत्तु नादबिन्द्वादिना श्रिवम् । Rasādyanadhyakṣatve'pi rūpādeva yathā tarum Vikalpo vetti tadvattu nādabindvādina Śivam. (76)

Siva can be known through $n\bar{a}da$, bindu (the forms of Sakti) etc., as the thought-constructs (vikalpa) know a tree only by perceiving it without getting its rasa.

बहुन्निक्तत्वमस्योक्तं न्निवस्य यदतो महान् कलातत्त्वपुरार्णाणुपदादिर्मेदविस्तरः ।

Bahuśaktitvamasyoktam Śivasya yadato mahān Kalātattvapurārṇāṇupadādirbhedavistarah. (77)

It is said that there exist many powers of the Siva, for from this the great $kal\bar{a}$ (the Sakti of consciousness by which all the thirty-six principles are evolved), Tattva (the very being of a thing, reality), Tattva (the very being, thing, reality), Pura (bhuvana), Arna (letter of alphabet), Anu (mantra), pada (state) etc. have been elaborated.

सृष्टिस्थितितेरोघानसंहारानुग्रहादि च तुर्यमित्यपि देवस्य बहुशक्तित्वजृम्भितम् । Sṛṣṭisthititirodhānasaṃhārānugrahādi ca Turyamityapi devasya bahuśaktitvajṛmbhitam. (78)

The creation, maintenance, withdrawal, self-veiling, grace etc. and the witnessing consciousness (the transcendental self), these too are the ecstasy of the powers of that deity.

ŚRĨTANTŖĀLOKAḤ

जाग्रत्स्वप्नसुषुप्तान्यतदतीतानि यान्यपि तान्यप्यमुष्य नाथस्य स्वातन्त्र्यलहरीभरः ।

Jāgratsvapnasusuptānyatadatītāni yānyapi Tānyapyamusya nāthasya svātantryalaharībharah. (79)

Waking, dream, deep sleep and others (i.e. fourth and fifth states of consciousness¹) are the moving waves of the free will of the Absolute, Parameśvara.

महामन्त्रेश्नमन्त्रेशमन्त्राः शिवपुरोगमाः अकलौ सकलश्चेति शिवस्यैव विभूतयः ।

Mahāmantreśamantreśamantrāḥ Śivapurogamāḥ Akalau sakalaśceti Śivasyaiva vibhūtayaḥ. (80)

Śiva is already there before Mahāmantreśa, Mantreśa, Mantra, Vijnānākala, Pralayākala and Sakala², these are the splendours of Śiva Himself.

तत्त्वग्रामस्य सर्वस्य धर्मः स्यादनपायवान् आत्मैव हि स्वभावात्मेत्युक्तं श्रीत्रिशिरोमते ।

Tattvagrāmasya sarvsaya dharmaḥ syādanapāyavān Ātmaiva hi svabhāvātmetyuktam Śrītrśiromate. (81)

 $\bar{A}tm\bar{a}$ (the soul) is the natural religion of the group of thirty six principles, so this never delianates from these principles, as is said in the $Tr\dot{s}iro$ Bhairaya.

^{1.} The fourth state of consciousness is called 'Turīya', that which exists beyond the all three defined states, Aum, the witnessing state and the fifth stage is turīyātīta, beyond the fourth state, the bliss, 2. Śiva (with śakti), Mantramaheśvara (sadāśiva), Mantreśvara (Iśvara), Mantra (pure vidyā), Vijnānākala, Pralayākala and Sakla (all with Paśu) are the saptavidha Pramātās.

हृदिस्यं सर्वदेहस्यं स्वभावस्यं सुसूक्ष्मकम् सामूह्यं चैव तत्त्वानां ग्रामशब्देन कीर्तितम् ।

Hṛdistham sarvadehastham svabhāvastham susūkṣmakam Sāmūhyam caiva tattvānām grāmasabdena kīrtitam. (82)

That group of principles (tattvas) is called 'grāma', which is very subtle and which rests in the heart, in all bodies and in the nature.

आत्मैव धर्म इत्युक्तः शिवामृतपरिप्तुतः प्रकाशावस्थितं ज्ञानं भावाभावादिमध्यतः ।

Ātmaiva dharma ityuktaḥ Śivāmṛtapariluptaḥ Prakāśāvasthitaṃ jnānaṃ bhāvābhāvādimadhyataḥ (83)

It is said that the Atmā, full of Śivāmrta (the bliss of God), is religion.

स्वस्थाने वर्तनं ज्ञेयं द्रष्टृत्वं विगतावृति विविक्तवस्तुकथितशुद्धविज्ञाननिर्मलः । ग्रामधर्मवृत्तिरुक्तस्तस्य सर्वं प्रसिद्धयृति

Svasthāne vartanam jñeyam drastrtvam vigatāvrti Viviktavastukathitaśuddhavijñānanirmalah (84) Grāmadharmavrttiruktastasya sarvam prasiddhyti

That light-form of Knowledge is present between realization and non-realization, exsists in itself and it is free from veil. Our teacher named it 'grāma dharmavṛtti', which is veilless, doubtless and pure science. He, who knows this, can manifest everything. (84-85)

ऊर्घ्वं त्यक्त्वाचो विशेत्स रामस्यो मध्यदेशगः ।

Ūrdhvam tyaktvādho višetsa rāmastho madhyadešagah. (85)

He who attains the $madhyadh\bar{a}ma$ in $susumn\bar{a}$ by leaving the $pr\bar{a}na$ and $ap\bar{a}na^2$, attains the $madhyade\dot{s}a$ and unites with $Parame\dot{s}vara$.

^{1.} The self is religion of the group of subtle principles, and to be witness of that self is grāmavṛtti, 2. Prāṇa, Apāna, Uḍāna, Vyāna and samāna, there are five kinds of Prāṇa, in which Prāṇa is upward and Apāna is downward.

गतिः स्थानं स्वप्नजाग्रदुन्मेषणनिमेषणे धावनं प्लवनं चैव आयासः शक्तिवेदनम् ।

Gatiḥ sthānaṃ svapnajāgradunmeṣaṇanimeṣaṇe Dhāvanaṃ plavanaṃ caiva āyāsaḥ śaktivedanam.

Movement, rest, dream awaking, the start of the world process, dissolution of the world, $dh\bar{a}vana$, plavana and $\bar{a}y\bar{a}sa$, these are nothing but the ($\dot{S}akti$ of) Parameśvara Himself. The $\dot{S}iva$ is the prime cause.

बुद्धिभेदास्तथा भावाः संज्ञाः कर्माण्यनेकशः एष रामो व्यापकोऽत्र शिवः परमकारणम् ।

Buddhibhedāstathā bhāvāḥ sanjñāḥ karmāṇyanekaśaḥ Eṣa Ramo vyapako'tra Śivaḥ paramakāraṇam.

Discrimination in intellect, feelings, names, many actions all these are Rāma i.e. Parameśvara, and Śiva is the first cause.

कल्मषद्गीणमनसा स्मृतिमात्रनिरोघनात् ध्यायते परमं ध्येयं गमागमपदे स्थितम् । परं शिवं तु व्रजति भैरवाख्यं जपादपि

Kalmaşakşīṇamanasā smṛtimātranirodhanāt Dhyāyate paramaṃ dhyeyaṃ gamāgamapade sthitam. (88) Paraṃ Śivaṃ tu Vrajati Bhairavākhyaṃ japādapi

The meditation of the Absolute takes place by the mind which is free from contamination. In result, he, the aspirant, attains the Parama Śiva called as Bhairava who rests in immovable movement. Through chanting of the sacred syllables, one can get the same.

तत्स्वरूपं जपः प्रोक्तो भावाभावपदच्युतः । Tatsvarūpaṃ japaḥ prokto bhāvābhāvapadacyutaḥ. (89)

Actually chanting is the attainment of the Śiva-form by delianating the dialect of bhāva and abhāva, gati and sthiti.

तदत्रापि तदीयेन स्वातन्त्र्येणोपकल्पितः Tadatrāpi tadīyena svātantryeṇopakalpitaḥ (90)

Hence, in this context, in comparison to the freedom of the individual mind, something else is essential.

दूरासन्नादिको भेदश्चित्त्वातन्त्र्यव्यपेक्षया । Dūrāsannādiko bhedaścitsvātantryavyapekşayā. (91)

And with his free will, the Absolute is having manifold forms.

एवं स्वातन्त्र्यपूर्णत्वादितदुर्घटकार्ययम् केन नाम न रूपेण मासते परमेश्वरः । Evam svātantryapūrṇatvādatidurghatakāryayam Kena nāma na rupeṇa bhāsate Parmeśvarah. (92)

In which form, the Parameśvara, who is accidental, and having his own freewill, does not appear? He appears in every form.

निरावरणमाभाति भात्यावृतनिजात्मकः आवृतानावृतो भाति बहुषा भेदसङ्गमात् । Nirāvaraṇamābhāti bhātyāvṛtanijātmakaḥ Āvṛtānāvṛto bhāti bahudhā bhedasaṅgamāt. (93)

इति शक्तित्रयं नाथे स्वातन्त्र्यापरनामकम् इच्छादिभिरभिष्याभिर्गुरुभिः प्रकटीकृतम् । Iti śaktitrayam nāthe svātantryāparanāmakam Icchādibhirabhikhyābhirgurubhih prakatīkrtam. (94)

He (the pure form of light) reflects without veil. By veiling Himself, He reflects. He can be known by veiling and nonveiling. Hence He reflects through many forms. The three powers (Para, Parāpara and Apara) of that God with Freewill are said by our teachers as desire, knowledge and action.

देवो ह्यन्वर्धशास्त्रोक्तैः शब्दैः समुपदिश्यते महाभैरवदेवोऽयं पतिर्यः परमः शिवः ।

Devo hyanvarthaśāstroktaiḥ Śabdaiḥ samupadiśyate Mahābhairavadevo'yaṃ patiryaḥ paramaḥ Śivaḥ.

(95)

The deity Bhairava, is *Pati*¹ and Parama Śiva, is said by the sacred words in the significant scriptures.

विश्वं बिमर्ति पूरणघारणयोगेन तेन च श्रियते सविमर्श्रतया रवरूपतश्च संसारमीरुहितकुच्च ।

Viśvam bibharti pūraṇadhāraṇayogena tena ca śriyate Savimarśatayā ravarūpataśca saṃsārabhīruhitakṛcca. (96)

(Here the term 'Bhairava" is being explained) He who maintains this world with fulfilment and attainment, and through which who assimilates all these, is Bhairava. He who manifests, maintains and withdraws² with his innate nature and who saves the fearful souls, is Bhairava.

संसारमीतिजनिताद्रवात्परामर्श्रतोऽपि हृदि जातः प्रकटीमूतं भवभयविर्मशनं शक्तिपाततो येन । Saṃsārabhītijanitādravātparāmarśato'pi hṛdi jātaḥ Prakatībhūtam bhavabhayavimarśanam śaktipātato yena. (97)

Seizing mentally (or rememberance) out of the fear of the world, and then the feeling arises in the heart is Bhairava. He is Bhairava who, through his grace, has shown the *bhavamaya Vimarśa*³ (or made the mind detatched from the world).

^{1.} In the philosophy of Re-cognition Pati, Pāśa and Paśu are the Parameśvara, the dross and the individual soul respectively. 2. In the term 'Bhairava", bha is bharaṇa (the maintenance of the world), ra is ravaṇa (the withdrawal from the manifestation) and va is vamana (the manifestation of the world). 3. That the world is an illusion (city in the mirror).

नक्षत्रप्रेरककालतत्त्वसंशोषकारिणो ये च कालग्राससमाधानरसिकमनःसु तेषु च प्रकटः ।

Nakṣatraprerakakālatattvasaṃśoṣakāriṇo ye ca Kālagrāsasamādhānarasikamanaḥ su teṣu ca prakataḥ. (98)

He who reflects in the heart of yogin, who meditates after destroying the sense of death, is Bhairava.

सङ्कोचिपशुजनभिये यासां रवणं स्वकरणदेवीनाम् अन्तर्बहिश्चतुर्विद्यखेचर्यादिकगणस्यापि । तस्य स्वामी संसारवृत्तिविघटनमहाभीमः

Sankocipaśujanabhiye yāsām ravaṇam svakaraṇadevīnām Antarbahiścaturvidhakhecaryādikagaṇasyāpi. (99) Tasya svāmī samsāravrttivighatanamahābhīmah

He is known by the ravaṇa of his three deities, and having four gaṇas as khecarī, gocarī, dikcarī and bhūcarī, inwardly and outwardly, and He is all powerful over the destroying world for those who are fearful.

भैरव इति गुरुभिरिभैरन्वर्थैः संस्तुतः शास्त्रे । Bhairava iti gurubhirimairanvarthaiḥ saṃstutaḥ śāstre. (100)

By this secred words, our teacher called Him (the Śiva) Bhairava in the scriptures.

^{1.} Sub-species of Vāmeśvarī Śakti, connected with the pramātā, the empirical self, Khecarī is one that moves in kha or the vast expanse of consciousness.

Tatpravaṇamātmalābhātprabhṛti samaste'pi kartavye Bodhātmakah samastakriyāmayo dṛkkriyāguṇaśca gatiḥ. (103)

The movement out of extreme bliss without pity and inspiring tale, is the play. His characteristics are, the desire to live ahead and free behaviour, though in Himself He is indivisive but immanent in divisions, to reflect in this worldly phenomenon, with His innate nature, to do His duties humbly and to pray, enlightening, doer of all activities, virtuous in vision, knowledge and action, and since He is full of these qualities, He is the Movement and is omnipresent. (101-103)

इति निर्वचनैः शिवतनुशास्त्रे गुरुभिः स्मृतो देवः Iti nirvacanaiḥ Śivatanuśāstre gurubhiḥ smṛto devaḥ

With these details, Guru Bṛhaspati has explained the deity (Parameśvara) in Śivatanuśāstra.

शासनरोयनपालनपाचनयोगात्स सर्वमुपकुरुते तेन पतिः श्रेयोमय एव शिवो नाशिवं किमपि तत्र ।

Śāsanarodhanapālanapācanayogātsa sarvamupakurute Tena patiḥ śreyomaya eva Śivo nāśivaṃ kimapi tatra.

(104)

He is pati because He saves the souls with His powers of scriptural preaching, administration and nourishment. He is Śiva for He is preferable. Not even an atom of non-śiva exists in Him.

ईदृश्र्पं कियदपि रुद्रोपेन्द्रादिषु स्फुरेद्येन तेनावच्छेदनुदे परममहत्पदविशेषणमुपात्तम् ।

Îdrgrūpam kiyadapi rudropendrādişu sphuredyena Tenāvacchedanude paramamahatpadavisesanamupāttam.

(105)

Since His such form gleams in rudra upendra etc., so the adjective 'Absolute state' is used in order to eliminate the veil.

इति यज्ज्ञेयसतत्त्वं दश्यंते तच्छिवाज्ञया मया स्वसंवित्सत्तर्कपतिशास्त्रत्रिककमातु ।

Iti yajjñeyasatattvam darśyate tacchivājñayā Mayā svasamvitsattarkapatiśāstratrikakramāt.

(106).

That knowable principle is being explained by me with the order of Parama Śiva and on the basis of samvit sattarka, pati śāstra and tṛka^l.

तस्य शक्तस्य एवैतास्तिस्त्रो भान्ति परादिकाः सृष्टौ स्थितौ लये तुर्ये तेनैता द्वादशोदिताः ।

Tasya śaktasya evaitāstistro bhānti parādikāḥ Sṛṣṭau sthitau laye turye tenaitā dvādaśoditāḥ.

(107)

His three powers ($para^2$ etc.) flow with the assimilation of other powers, These are twelve in numbers for they flow in the states of creation, maintenence, withdrawal and bliss.

तावान्यूर्णस्वभावोऽसौ परमः शिव उच्यते तेनात्रोपासकाः साक्षात्तत्रैव परिनिष्ठिताः ।

Tāvānpūrṇasvabhāvo'sau paramaḥ Śiva ucyate Tenātropāsakāḥ sākṣāttatraiva pariniṣṭhitāh.

(108)

That Parama Śiva is of integral innate nature due to these twelve powers. That is why the aspirants of twelvefold Śakti-Cakra (wheel of Power) dwell and attain that very state.

^{1.} Supreme consciousness right logic, scripture of Parama Siva and the trinity of the philosophy of re-cognition, 2. The highest, the Absolute.

'ŚRĨTANTŖĀLOKAH

तासामपि च भेदांशन्यूनाधिक्यादियोजनम् तत्स्वातन्त्र्यबलादेव शास्त्रेषु परिमाषितम् ।

Tāsāmapi ca bhedaṃśanyūnādhikyādiyojanam Tatsvātantryabalādeva śāstreṣu paribhāṣitam.

(109)

If there says the programming of minimum-maximum exists as the part of division of the powers, that only due to the free-will of the \dot{Siva} .

एकवीरो यामलोऽय त्रिशक्तिश्चतुरात्मकः पंचमूर्तिः षडात्मायं सप्तकोऽष्टकभूषितः ।

Ekvīro yāmalo'tha triśaktiścaturātmakah

द्वादशारमहाचक्रनायको भैरवस्त्वित ।

Navātmā daśadikchaktirekādaśakalātmakaḥ Dvādaśāramahācakranāyako Bhairavastivati.

(111)

(110)

This is of thirteen in numbers as Ekavīra, yāmala, TriŚakti, of four powers, Pañcamūrti, Ṣaḍātmā, Saptaka, Aṣṭakavibhūṣita, Navātmā, of tenfold DikŚakti, of eleven arts (phases), hero of twelvefold Mahācakra and Bhairava.

एवं यावत्सहस्रारे निःसंख्यारेऽपि वा प्रभुः विश्वचक्रे महेशानो विश्वशक्तिर्विज्म्यते ।

Evam yāvatasahasrāre niḥsankhyāre'pi vā prabhuḥ Viśvacakre maheśāno viśvaśaktirvijrmbhate.

(112)

Hence according to Tṛśirobhairava, the same Maheśa, the lord with world power is emerging in the cycle of world who is infinite or countless (in numbers).

तेषामपि च चक्राणां स्ववर्गानुगमात्मना ऐक्येन चक्रगो भेदस्तत्र तत्र निरूपितः ।

Teṣāmapi ca cakrāṇām svavargānugamātmanā Aikyena cakrago bhedastatra tatra nirūpitaḥ.

(113)

The division, regarding to cycles, is explained in the scriptures where the cycles are followed by its squares.

चतुष्पड्दिर्दिगणनायोगात्त्रैशिरसे मते षट्चकेश्वरता नाथस्योक्ता चित्रनिजाकृतेः ।

Catuşşaddvirdvigananāyogāttraiśirase mate şatcakreśvaratā nāthasyoktā citranijākṛteḥ.

(114)

The number four and six, if multiply by twos, we can get the amazing self-form of the lord who is *Satcakreśvara*¹ as told in Trśirobhairava.

नामानि चक्रदेवीनां तत्र कृत्यविभेदतः सौम्यरौद्राकृतिष्यानयोगीन्यन्वर्धकल्पनातु ।

Nāmāni cakradevīnām tatra kṛtyavibhedataḥ Saumyaraudrākṛtidhyānayogīnyanvarthakalpanāt. (115)

On the basis of their action-differences, the deities of cakra are named and can be contemplated by different forms as gentle or angry.

एकस्य संविन्नाथस्य ह्यान्तरी प्रतिभा तनुः सौम्यं वान्यन्मितं संविदुर्मिचक्रमृपास्यते ।

Ekasya samvinnāthasya hyāntarī pratibhā tanuḥ Saumyam vānyanmitam samvidūrmicakramupāsyate. (116)

The same Samvid Lord's internal Samvit $Pratibha^2$ is worshiped as $\bar{U}rmicakra$, either in the form of gentility or in angry.

^{1.} The Lord of six-cycles (as mūlādhāra, svādhiṣṭhāna, maṇipura, anāhata, viśuddhi, and Ājñā lead towards, Sahasrāra). Kulātmikā Kunḍalinī sleeps at Mulādhāra. When She awakes, reaches to Sahasrāra by passing through these six cakras or cycles. At Sahasrāra, in the Akula Cakra, She meets with Śiva and absorbs in Him, the Cakreśvara. In the Vijñāna Bhairava, She asks to Bhairava in her seventh question whether He has the form of Ćakrārūrh or Anacka 2. Saṃvit is Supreme Consciousness in which there is complete fusion of Prakāśa and Vimarśa. From the macrocosmic point of view Saṃvit-devatās are Khecarī, Gocarī, Dikcari and Bhūcarī. From the microcosmic point of view, the internal and external senses are said to be saṃvit-devatā, and Pratibhā is Parā Śakti.

The name of the samvid deity of Śiva is Puṣṭi. She is white and clean as a dry pond becomes fresh with rainy water. She bestows the aspirant with good fruits as bliss who contemplates on her either by meditation or by external process. Hence one contemplates on Puṣṭi. The letters (or Syllables) which are natural to utter, clarify that Puṣṭi-form of Samvid by acquiring the seed-form. Does this powerfull curd, powerfull clarified butter, He strengthens the mercury of the body by this element, the power Puṣṭi. Hence we must fulfill this process. (117-122)

ŚRĨTANTŖĀLOKAḤ

तस्माद्धिश्वेश्वरो बोधभैरवः समुपास्यते अवच्छेदानवच्छिदुभ्यां भोगमोक्षार्थिभिर्जनैः।

Tasmādviśveśvaro bodhabhairavah samupāsyate Avacchedānavacchidbhyām bhogamoksārthibhirjanaih. (123)

So the worship of Viśveśvara Samvid Bhairava accomplishes by the desires of enjoyment and salvation by the means of determination and non-determination.

येऽप्यन्यदेवताभक्ता इत्यतो गुरुरादिशत्

Ye'pyanyadevatābhaktā ityato gururādiśat (124-) Those who worship otheir deities, also worship this Saṃvit, as is preached by the teacher.(124-)

ये बोघाद्वयृतिरिक्तं हि किंचिद्याज्यतया विदुः । तेऽपि वेद्यं विविंचाना बोघाभेदेन मन्वते

Ye bodhādvaytiriktam hi kiñcidyājyatayā viduh. (124) Te'pi vedyam viviñcānā bodhābhedena manvate

Those who know a deity as the seat of worship unlike from the enlightenment (the self-form), they too know the deity as inseparable with samvid. (124-125)

तेनाविच्छिन्नतामर्शरूपाहन्ताप्रथात्मनः ।

Tenāvicchinnatāmarśarūpāhantāprathātmanaḥ. (125)

स्वयंप्रथस्य न विधिः सृष्ट्यात्मास्य च पूर्वगः वेद्या हि देवतासुष्टिः शक्तहेंतोः समृत्यिता ।

Svayamprathasya na vidhih sṛṣṭyātmāsya ca pūrvagaḥ Vedyā hi devatāsṛṣṭiḥ śakterhetoḥ samutthitā. (126)

अहंरूपा तु संवित्तिर्नित्या स्वप्रथनात्मिका ^runā tu samvittirnitvā svanrathanātmikā

Ahamrūpā tu samvittirnityā svaprathanātmikā

Therefore this self-form-deity, who is self-proved and the form of inseparable-invariable Samvid, does not offer any fulltime method of worship, to create. Actually the creation manifested by the deity is itself knowledgeable for the power. The self-form Samvit is eternal Light.

(-125-127-)

विधिर्नियोगस्त्र्यंशा च भावना चोदनात्मिका । Vidhirniyogastryaṃśā ca bhāvanā codanātmikā. (127)

This worship 'Vidhi niyoga' is called 'Bhāvanā', consists of three forms viz. Sādhya, Sādhana and Kartavya. (-127)

तदेकसिद्धा इन्द्राद्या विषिपूर्वा हि देवताः अहंबोयस्तु न तथा ते तु संवेद्यरूपताम् । Tadekasiddhā indrādyā vidhipūrvā hi devatāḥ Ahaṃbodhastu na tathā te tu saṃvedyarūpatām. (128) उन्मग्नामेव पश्यन्तस्तं विदन्तोऽपि नोविदुः न विदमौं तु तत्त्वेनातश्चलन्ति ते ।

Unmagnāmeva pasyantastam vidanto pi noviduh Na vidurmām tu tattvenātascalanti te. (129)

The deities of Vidhi Pramāṇa like Indra can only be proved by the scriptures, the enlightenment of ahaṃ is not so. He knows the self as seems to be unknown and He looks at the $Samvedyar\bar{u}pat\bar{a}^1$.

चलनं तु व्यवच्छिन्नरूपतापित्तरेव या देवान्देवयजो यान्तीत्यादि तेन न्यरूप्यत ।

Calanaṃ tu vyavacchinnarūpatāpattireva yā Devāndevayajo yāntītyādi tena nyarūpyata. (130)

It is in the tradition to attain the inseparable form of that Samvit. That's why it is said that, they who worship a deity become deity.

निमज्ज्य वेद्यतां ये तु तत्र संविन्मयीं स्थितम् विदुस्ते ह्यनविष्ठन्नं तद्मक्ता अपि यान्ति माम् । Nimajjya vedyatāṃ ye tu tatra saṃvinmayīṃ sthitim

Nimajjya vedyalam ye tu tatra samvinmayim sinitim Viduste hynavacchinnam tadbhaktā api yānti mām (131)

Those, who know the state of Samvid in the self-form deity, merge the individual deity and hence they attain Me inseparably.

^{1.} The form of an intuitive apprehension of oneself without the aid of internal and external sense.

सर्वत्रात्र ह्यहंशब्दो बोघमात्रैकवाचकः स भोक्तूप्रभुशब्दाभ्यां याज्ययष्ट्टतयोदितः । Sarvatrātra hyahaṃśabdo bodhamātraikavācakaḥ Sa bhoktṛprabhuśabdābhyāṃ yājyayaṣṭṭatayoditaḥ. (132)

This word 'Me' (aham in this $G\bar{\imath}t\bar{a}$) is eternally-known. That enlightenment between aspirant and the Lord is said as between $y\bar{a}jya$ and $yast\bar{a}$.

याजमानी संविदेव याज्या नान्येति चोदितम् न त्वाकृतिः कुतोऽप्यन्या देवता न हि सोचिता । Yājmānī saṃvideva yājyā nānyeti coditam Na tvākṛtiḥ kuto 'pyanyā devatā na hi socitā. (133)

The Samvid, which performs yajña, is yajanīya, not any other principle, it is said so. No other form exists (in) anywhere nor that Samvid is of the form of any deity.

विषश्च नोक्तः कोऽप्यत्र मन्त्रादि वृत्तिषाम वा
सोऽयमात्मानमावृत्य स्थितो जडपदं गतः ।

Vidhiśca noktah ko'pyatra mantrādi vṛttidhāma vā

So'yamātmānamāvṛtya sthito jadapadam gatah. (134)

आवृतानावृतात्मा तु देवादिस्थावरान्तगः

जडाजडस्याप्येतस्य द्वैरूप्यस्यास्ति वित्रता ।

Āvṛtānāvṛtātmā tu devādisthāvarāntagah

Jadājadasyāpyetasya dvairūpyasyāsti citratā. (135)

It says that neither vidhi vākya nor any mantra¹ is introduced in this respect. When this Saṃvid covers itself by itself, it is inert and this expands itself from deity to any living being-covered and uncovered. Due to the divisions of Tāra, Mandra, Jīnāna, *Santāna*² etc., this is of infinite-forms, which is primarily inert and conscious. (134-135)

^{1.} Veda Vākya consists of Brāhmina Vākya and Brāhmina Vākya consists of Vidhi Vākya, Mantra is sacred syllable, Śuddha Vidyā 2. Tāra, Mandra, Jñāna are different, so present different forms, similarly Santāna is from bondages.

तस्य स्वतन्त्रभावो हि किं किं यन्न विचिन्तयेत् त्रिशिरःशास्त्रे सम्बुद्ध इति वेत्ति यः ज्ञेयभावो हि चिद्धर्मस्तच्छायाच्छादयेन्न ताम ।

Tasya svatantrabhavo hi kim kim yanna vicintayet Triśiraḥśāstre sambuddha iti vetti yaḥ Jñeyabhāvo hi ciddharmastacchāyācchādayenna tām.

(136)

It says in the Triśira Bhairava that the Freewill of the Samvid knows everything, nothing exists which He does not know, as one must know. The thing to be known is to know, and it is the religion of Absolute Consciousness. Therefore the Shadow of the body does not overshadow the consciousness.

तेनाजडस्य भागस्य पुद्गलाण्वादिसंज्ञिनः अनावरणमागांत्रे वैचित्र्यं बहुषा स्थितम् ।

Tenājadasya Bhāgasya pudgalānvādisamjñinah Anāvaranabhāgāmśe vaicitryam bahudha sthitam.

(137)

Due to this uncovering, the terms matter, atom etc. which are the parts of the consciousness, appear amazingly and infinitely in the section of Pure form of Samvid.

सॅविद्रूपे न भेदोऽस्ति वास्तवो यद्यपि ध्रुवे तथाप्यावृतिनिर्हासतारतम्यात्स लक्ष्यते ।

Saṃvidrūpe na bhedo'sti vāstavo yadyapi dhruve Tathāpyāvṛtinirhrāsatāratamyātsa lakṣyate.

(138)

Though the ever-fixed, unchangeable form of Samvid does not have any differenciation, yet it appears so due to the coverings and bondages.

तद्विस्तरेण वक्ष्यामः शक्तिपातविनिर्णये समाप्य परतां स्थौल्यप्रसङ्गे चर्चियप्यते ।

Tadvistarena vakşyāmah śaktipātavinirnaye Samāpya paratām sthaulyaprasange carcayisyate.

(139)

After completeing the discussion of Samvid (the Para Tatva), we will discuss this in detail in the chapter of Śaktipātanirnaya, the decision of the grace.

अतः कॅचित्प्रमातारं प्रति प्रथयते विभुः पूर्णमेव निजं रूपं कॅचिदंशांशिकाकमात् ।

Atah kamcitpramātāram prati prathayate vibhuh Pūrņameva nijam rūpam kamcidamsāmsikākramāt.

(140)

So the Paramesvara manifests His complete Light for the self, manifests Himself partially too for some others.

विश्वभावैकभावात्मस्वरूपप्रथनं हि यत् अणूनां तत्परं ज्ञानं तदन्यदपरं बहु । Viśvabhāvaikabhāvātmasvarūpaprathanam hi yat Anūnām tatparam jñānam tadanyadaparam bahu.

(141)

That which is pure consciousness of the self-form (the nature), with the supreme $bh\bar{a}van\bar{a}^1$, is the Supreme Knowledge of the anu^2 . All other knowledges, except this, are incomplete (limited) and of several kinds.

तच्च साक्षादुपायेन तदुपायादिनापि च प्रथमानं विचित्रामिर्मगीभिरिह भिद्यते । Tacca sākṣādupāyena tadupāyādināpi ca Prathamānam vicitrābhirbhaṃgībhiriha bhidyate. (142)

That knowledge expands and differentiates itself in various forms (and gestures) by the means of $\hat{Sambhava}$, \hat{Sakta}^3 etc. or by direct means.

^{1.} The practice of Śuddha vikalpa is Śāktopāya consists of mantra-śakti, sat-tarka and Śuddha Vidyā. According to Abinava Gupta in Tantrasāra, Sat-tarka is the reflection that re-inforces continuity of ideas similar to the Śuddha vikalpa, leads to 'Bhāvanā', the creative contemplation and svarūpa prathana is supreme Bhāvanā. 2. the Puruṣa. 3. the upāyas (or yogas) are divided under four broad heads viz. anūpaya, śāmbhavopāy, śāktopāya and āṇavopāya. Śāmbhavopāya leads to śāktopāya and śāktopāya leads to āṇavopāya.

तत्रापि स्वपरद्वारद्वारित्वात्सर्वशौंऽशशः व्यवधानाव्यवधिना भूयान्भेदः प्रवर्तते ।

Tatrāpi svaparadvāradvāritvāt sarvasom'sasah Vyavadhānāvyavadhinā bhūyānbhedah pravartate.

(143)

That difference depends on sva-para, dvāra-dvāri, sarvāṃśataḥpūrṇāṃśataḥ and vyavadhāna-vyavadhānābhāva, creats many differences.

ज्ञानस्य चाभ्युपायो यो न तदज्ञानमुच्यते ज्ञानमेव तु तत्सूक्ष्मं परं त्विच्छात्मकं मतम् ।

Jñānasya cābhyupāyo yo na tadajñānamucyate
Jñānameva tu tatsūkṣmaṃ paraṃ tvicchātmakaṃ matam (144)

That can not be said ignorance which is the means (yoga) of $j\tilde{n}\bar{a}na$. (The Samvid-form is the means of $j\tilde{n}\bar{a}na$ too). That form is believed as the desirable mean.

उपायोपेयभावस्तु ज्ञानस्य स्थौल्यविश्रमः एषैव च क्रियाशक्तिर्बन्धमोक्षैककारणम् ।

Upāyopeyabhāvastu jñānasya sthaulyaviśramaḥ eşaiva ca kriyāśaktirbandhamokṣaikakāraṇam.

(145)

It is simply an enjoyable illusion that the same knowledge appears differently in infinite forms through the means. This is the Power of action which is the sole cause of bondage and liberation.

तत्राद्ये स्वपरामर्शे निर्विकल्पैकघामनि यत्स्फुरेत्प्रकटं साक्षात्तदिच्छाख्यं प्रकीर्त्तितम् ।

Tatrādye svaparāmarśe nirvikalpaikadhāmani Yatsphuretprakaṭaṃ sākṣāttadicchākhyaṃ prakīrttitam.

(146)

This is known as *icchopāya*¹ which gleams vividly in this situation of non-discursive self-revelation.

^{1.} Icchopāya is sākṣāt upāya is śāmbhava upāya.

यथा विस्फुरितदृशाम्नुसन्धिं विनाप्यलम् भातिस्फुटस्तुद्धत्केषामपिशिवात्मता ।

Yathā visphuritadrśāmanusandhim vināpyalam Bhāti bhāvaḥ sphuṭastadvatkeṣāmapi Śivātmatā. भूयो भूयो विकल्पांशनिश्चयकमचर्चनातु

(147)

Bhūyo bhūyo vikalpāṃśaniścayakramacarcanāt Yatparāmarśamabhyeti jñānopāyam tu tadviduh.

(148)

There are some people who feel apparently the $\dot{Sivatma}$ state as the clairvoyants can know the matter clearly without any means. This should be known as $j\bar{n}\bar{a}nop\bar{a}ya$, which an aspirant attains through the remembrance of $vikalp\bar{a}m\acute{s}a^{1}$ repeatedly.

यत्तु तत्कल्पनाक्लृप्तबहिर्मूतार्थसाधनम् क्रियोपायं तदाम्नातं भेदो नात्रापवर्गगः ।

Yattu tatkalpanāklṛptabahirbhūtārthasādhanam Kriyopāyam tadāmnātam bhedo nātrāpavargagaḥ.

(149)

This is known as kriyopāya which is the means of the external meaning of that imaginative differences. Here, exists no differences as apavarga.

यतो नान्या किया नाम ज्ञानमेव हि तत्त्रथा रुढेर्योगान्ततां प्राप्तमिति श्रीगमशासने ।

Yato nānyā kriyā nāma jñānameva hi tattathā Rūrheryogāntatām prāptamiti Śrīgamaśāsane.

(150)

 $Kriy\bar{a}$ is not the other thing. This is knowledge for this has attained the Supreme of yoga through tradition, as is said in the $\acute{Srigama}\acute{sastra}$.

1. Śuddha vikalpa

योगो नान्यः क्रिया नान्या तत्त्वारूढा हि या मतिः स्वचित्तवासनाशान्तौ सा क्रियेत्यभिघीयते ।

Yogo nānyaḥ krīyā nānyā tattvārūrhā hi yā matiḥ Svacittavāsanāśāntau sā kriyetyabhidhīyate.

(151)

Yoga is not a different thing. $Kriy\bar{a}$ too is not different. The intellect, settled in the principle, after extinction of the impurities of the mind, is called $kriy\bar{a}$.

स्वचित्ते वासनाः कर्ममलमायाप्रसूतयः तासां शान्तिनिमित्तं या मतिः संवित्स्वमाविका ।

Svacitte vāsanāḥ karmamalamāyāprasūtayaḥ

Tāsāṃ śantinimittaṃ yā matiḥ saṃvitsvabhāvikā.

सा देहारम्भिबाह्मस्थतत्त्वव्रातािधशायिनी

किया सैव च योगः स्यात्तत्त्वानां चिल्लयीकृतौ ।

Sā dehārambhibāhyasthatattvavrātādhiśāyinī Krivā saiva ca yogah syāttattvānām cillavīkrtau.

(152)

The intellect of saṃvit-nature, which extinguishes the impurities of mind produced by karma-mala and $m\bar{a}y\bar{a}$, is $kriy\bar{a}$, sets forth the primal and external principle-groups of the body, That is called yoga when these principles dissolve in the mind. (152-153)

लोकेऽपि किल गच्छामीत्येवमन्तः स्फुरैव या सा देहं देशमक्षांश्चाप्याविश्वन्ती गतिक्रिया ।

Loke 'pi kila gacchāmītyevamantaḥ sphuraiva yā Sā deham deśamakṣāmścāpyāviśantī gatikriyā.

That movement, passes through the entire body and senses, which is called $kriy\bar{a}$, gleams in the inner soul as "I go", and in the world too.

तस्मात्कियापि या नाम ज्ञानमेव हि सा ततः ज्ञानमेव विमोक्षाय युक्तं वैतदुदाहतम् ।

Tasmātkriyāpi yā nāma jñānameva hi sā tatah Jñānameva vimoksāya yuktam caitadudāhatam.

Hence that which is $kriy\bar{a}$, is knowledge too. So it is rightly said that the knowledge is the correct means of salvation.

मोक्षो हि नाम नैवान्यः स्वरूपप्रथनं हि सः स्वरूपं चात्मनः संविन्नान्यत्तत्र तु याः पुनः।

Mokso hi nāma naivānyah svarūpaprathanam hi sah Svarūpam cātmanah samvinnānyattatra tu yāh punah.

(156)

क्रियादिकाः शक्तयस्ताः संविद्रूपायिका निह असंविद्रूपतायोगान्द्वर्मिणश्चानिरूपणात् ।

Kriyādikāḥ śaktayastāḥ saṃvidrūpādhikā nahi Asaṃvidrūpatāyogāddharmiṇaścānirūpaṇāt.

(157)

The salvation is not the other thing but the expansion of the Self-form (i.e. nature of the Self or essence of the Self). And the Self-form is $\bar{A}tmasamvit$. The power of $kriy\bar{a}$ etc. in that are not Samvit-forms for these are alongwith Asamvid-form and not with the religion. (156-157)

परमेश्वरशास्त्रे हि न च काणाददृष्टिवत् शक्तीनां धर्मरूपाणामाश्रयः कोऽपि कथ्यते ।

Parameśvaraśāstre hi na ca kāṇādadṛṣṭivat Śaktīnām dharmarupāṇāmāśrayah ko'pi kathyate. (158)

The powers of dharmarūpa do not have any base, explained in the Parameśvara Śāstra, as the same is described in Vaisesika philosophy.

ततश्च दृक्कियेच्छाद्या भिन्नाश्चेच्छक्तयस्तथा एकः श्विव इतीयं वाग्वस्तुशून्यैव जायते । Tataśca drkkiyecchādyā bhinnāścecchaktayastathā Ekaḥ Śiva itīyaṃ vāgvastuśūnyaiva jāyate (159)

Here, if the relation of Dharma-dharmī between śakti and śaktimāna were established as is stated in Vaiśeşika philosophy, the power of desire-knowledge-action would be different. Then the statement 'the Śiva is One' would be meaningless.

ŚRĨTANTŖĀLOKAḤ

तस्मात्संवित्त्वमेवैतत्स्वातन्त्र्यं तत्तदप्यलम् विविच्यमानं बहुवीषु पर्यवस्यपि शक्तिषु ।

Tasmātsaṃvittvamevaitatsvātantryaṃ tattadapyalam Vivicyamānaṃ bahvīṣu paryavasyapi śaktiṣu.

Hence this Samvit-State is the Absolute Freedom. After the analysis, this culminates in infinite powers.

यतश्वात्मप्रथा मोक्षस्तन्नेहाश्रङ्क्यमीदृशम् नावश्यं कारणात्कार्यं तज्ज्ञान्यपि न मुच्यते ।

yataścātmaprathā mokṣastannehāśankyamīdrśam Nāvaśyam kāraṇātkāryam tajjnānyapi na mucyate.

Since the knowledge of the Self is salvation, this should not be doubted here with the statement that a cause (certainly) does cause an action leads to non-salvation (i.e. a wise man attains salvation).

यतो ज्ञानेन मोक्षस्य या हेतुफलतोदिता न सा मुख्या, ततो नायं प्रसंग इति निश्चितम् ।

Yato jñānena moksasya yā hetuphalatoditā Na sā mukhyā, tato nāyam prasanga iti niścitam.

(162)

What is discussed as cause and action, in knowledge-leads-salvation, is not so important. Hence it is certainly irrelevant.

एवं ज्ञानस्वभावैव क्रिया स्यूलत्वमात्मनि यतो वहति तेनास्यां चित्रता दृश्यतां किल ।

Evam jñānasvabhāvaiva kriyā sthūlatvamātmani Yato vahati tenāsyām citratā dršyatām kila.

(163)

Hence the action is the nature of knowledge, and since it contains the gross forms so we watch and find this amazing divergence.

कियोपायेऽम्युपायानां ग्राह्मबाह्मविभेदिनाम् भेदोपभेदवैविष्यान्निः संख्यत्वमवान्तरातु ।

Kriyopāye' bhyupāyānām grāhyabāhyavibhedinām Bhedopabhedavaividhyānnih saṃkhyatvamavāntarāt.

(164)

There exists numerousity in the receptive and external means of divergence in $kriyop\bar{a}ya^{I}$ due to different variety and $av\bar{a}ntarabheda^{2}$.

अनेन चैतत्प्रध्वस्तं यत्केचन शशङ्किरे उपायभेदान्मोक्षेऽपि भेदः स्यादिति सूरयः।

Anena caitatpradhvastam yatkecana śaśankire Upāyabhedānmokṣe'pi bhedah syāditi sūrayah.

(165)

Hence the scholars, who believe in divergence and doubt that the salvation too will be of difference due to the difference of means, should be sure that their doubts are eradicated.

मलतच्छक्तिविष्वंसतिरोभूच्युतिमध्यतः हेतुभेदेऽपि नो भिन्ना घटष्वंसादिवृत्तिवत् ।

Malatacchaktividhvamsatirobhūcyutimadhyataḥ Hetubhede'pi no bhinnā ghatadhvamsādivṛttivat.

(166)

Inspite of the difference of cause between ignorance and its power, the salvation is untouched by the difference, being not-different, as the breaking of pots is breaking, the same action takes place inspite of different cause of breaking in two pots.

तदेतित्रविधत्वं हि शास्त्रे श्रीपूर्वनामनि आदेशि परमेशित्रा समावेशविनिर्णये ।

Tadetattrividhatvam hi Śāstre Srīpūrvanāmani Ādeśi parameśitrā samāveśavinirnaye.

(167)

The Lord (Parameśvara) has said in the Śripūrvaśastra about the trinity (of $up\bar{a}yas$) in context of samaveśa $nirnaya^3$.

^{1.} Āṇava upāya is also known as kriyopāya. 2. (Already discussed)

^{3.} The principle of absorption in the Divine Consciousness.

(170)

This is called Śāmbhavopāya when the inspiration arises through the spiritual teacher in the heart of a man who thinks nothing. (168) yo bhavetsa samāvešah samyagānava ucvate.

This is called $\dot{Saktopaya}$ when an aspirant attains the absorption in Divine Consciousness only through the contemplation over a thing with the unuttered-mind (169)

This is called $\bar{A}navop\bar{a}ya$ when an aspirant attains that absorption through utterance, senses, contemplation, syllable and the imaginations of place (or mandala). (170)

अर्किचिंचिन्तकस्येति विकल्पानुपयोगिता तया च झटिति ज्ञेयसमापित्तिनिरूप्यते । Akiñciñcintakasyeti vikalpānupayogitā Tayā ca jhatiti jneyasamāpattirnirūpyate. (171)

He, whose urge for the knowable is completed and stoped, becomes $P\bar{u}rna$, the omnipotent. This happens when he finds the uselessness of thought-constructs through this term 'Akiñciccintakasya'.

सा कयं भवतीत्याह गुरुणातिगरीयसा ज्ञेयाभिमुखबोयेन द्राक्प्ररूढत्वशालिना ।

Sā katham bhavatītyāha gurunātigarīyasā Jñeyābhimukhabodhena drākprarūrhatvaśālinā. (172)

How this (the urge for the knowable) comes to end? So it says that this happens with no time with the inspiration of the Guru, the spiritual teacher, the aspirant attains the enlightenment before himself directly.

तृतीयार्थे तिस व्याख्या वा वैयिथकरण्यतः आवेशश्चास्वतन्त्रस्य स्वतद्रपनिमज्जनातु ।

(174)

The technical term 'tasil' is used (i.e. trtīya) in Pratibodha, that should be explained as 'Vaiyadhikaraṇa'. Āveśa (The absorption or entry) is actually when bounded soul absorbs into the unbounded Absolute due to the free will of that Absolute. So here it is said, what reflects as it is in His own mirror, is consciousness (i.e. the intellect) substentialize the individual soul with purifying the splendour of that. (173-175)

आस्ते हृदयनैर्मल्यातिश्वये तारतम्यतः ज्ञेयं द्विषा च चिन्मात्रं जडं चाद्यं च कल्पितम् ।

Caitanyena samāveśastādātmyam nāparam kila Tenavikalpā samvittirbhāvanādyanapekṣiṇī. (178) शिवतादात्प्यमापन्ना समावेशोऽत्र शाम्पवः

।शवतादात्प्यमापन्ना समावशाऽत्र शास्थवः तत्प्रसादात्पुनः पश्चादुमाविनोऽत्र विनिश्चयाः ।

Śivatādātmyamāpannā Samāveśo'tra Śāmbhavaḥ

सन्तु तादात्म्यमापन्ना न तु तेषामुपायता विकल्पापेक्षया मानमविकल्पमिति ब्रवन् ।

Santu tādātmyamāpannā na tu teṣāmupāyatā Vikalpāpekṣayā mānamavikalpamiti bruvan. (180)

There are two kinds of knowable - the conscious and the inert. The first, the conscious knowable, is imaginative and the inert knowable is true in its state. The absorption with the inert is like a form of an idol but that is different which is absorbed in the Absolute. Hence the Sāmbhava samāveśa takes place when the contracted samvit (the individual), who does not expect bhāvanā and who does not have thought construct, absorbs in the Śiva. By the grace of that nirvikalpa parāmarśa (the non-discursive Absolute), the thought-constructs (as pure thought-construct that this world is the expression of my own power etc.) absorb in the Absolute, (after the attainment of Śāmbhava Samāveśa) and never recreate.

प्रत्युक्त एव सिद्धं हि विकल्पेनानुगम्यते
गृहीतमिति सुस्पष्टा निश्चयस्य यतः प्रथा ।
Pratyukta eva siddham hi vikalpenānugamyate
Grhītamiti suspasţā niścayasya yatah prathā. (181)

So this statement must be rejected that the non-discursive expects for the discursive, for the discursive represents the known only. 'I have known this' certainty arises clearly.

गृह्णामीत्यविकल्पैक्यबलात् प्रतिपद्यते अविकल्पात्मसंवित्तौ या स्फुरत्तैव वस्तुनः । Gṛḥṇāmītyavikalpaikyabalāttu pratipadyate Avikalpātmasamvittau yā sphurattaiva vastunah. (182)

'I am knowing', this certainty arises out of non-discursive substratum, the unity of knowledge. This is siddhi which gleams out of non-discursive self-knowledge.

सा सिद्धिर्न विकल्पात्तु वस्त्वपेक्षाविवर्जितात् केवलं संविदः सोऽयं नैर्मल्येतरविश्रमः ।

Sā siddhirna vikalpāttu vastvapekṣāvivarjitāt Kevalam samvidah so'yam nairmalyetaraviśramah. (183)

That is siddhi, not the thought-construct imagines what is without expectation. This is the other delusion of the incontaminated samvit.

यद्विकल्पानपेक्षत्वसापेक्षत्वे निजात्मनि
निशीर्थेऽपि मणिज्ञानी विद्युत्कालप्रदर्शितान् ।
yadvikalpānapekṣatvasāpekṣatve nijātmani
Niśīthe'pi manijñanī vidyutkālapradarśitān. (184)

This is simply a delusion that the soul experiences relativity and the absoluteness of the thought-construct. But he who has the knowledge of a gem, can know the other things.

तांस्तान्विशेषांश्चिनुते रत्नानां मूयसाभिप नैर्मल्यं संविदश्चेदं पूर्वाभ्यासवशादथो ।

Tāṃstānviśeṣāṃścinute ratnānāṃ bhūyasāmapi Nairmalyaṃ saṃvidaścedaṃ pūrvābhyāsavaśādatho. (185)

The knower of a gem can know the subtle qualities of jewels even in the lightning of midnight. This is the purity of Samvid which appears out of previous lives.

अनियन्त्रेश्वरेच्छात इत्येतच्चर्यिष्यते पंचान्नद्वियता चास्य समावेशस्य वर्णिता । Aniyantreśvarecchāta ityetaccarcayisyate Pañcāśadvidhatā cāsya samāveśasya varņitā. (186)

Behind this happening (the appearance of the Samvid), the cause is the desire (the svātantrya itself) of the Lord. This will be discussed further. There exist fifty differences in this samāveśa (the absorption) on the basis of the principles and its existing different gleams.

तत्त्वषट्त्रिंशकैतत्त्थरपुटमेदाभिसन्पितः एतत्त्त्वान्तरे यत्पुविद्याशक्त्यात्मकं त्रयम् । Tattvaşaṭtriṃśakaitatsthasphutabhedāḥhisandhitaḥ Etattatvāntare yaṭpuṃvidyāśaktyātmakaṃ trayam. (187)

In these principles, the three principles, the Puruşa, the suddha vidyā and the śakti, are Ambodhi, Kāṣṭhā and jvalana in differness. (187, 188)

अम्भोधिकाष्ठाज्वलनसंख्यैभेदैर्यतः क्रमात् पुविद्याशक्तिसंत्रं यत्तत्सर्वव्यापकं यतः । Ambodhikāṣṭhajvalanasankhyairbhedairyataḥ kramāt Pumvidyāśaktisanjñam yattatsarvavyāpakam yataḥ. (188)

Since there are the principles, i.e. Puruṣa, Vidyā and Śakti, and these are eternal and omnipresent so these are well calculated.

अव्यापकेम्यस्तेनेदं भेदेन गणितं किल अशुद्धिशुद्ध्यमानत्वशुद्धितस्तु मिथोऽपि तत् । Avyāpakebhyastenedaṃ bhedena gaṇitaṃ kila Aśuddhiśuddhyamānatvaśuddhitastu mitho'pi tat. (189)

So, these are calculated in differences in comparison to the non-eternal principles. These three are Aśuddhi, Śudhyamānatva and Śuddhi.

भूतान्यध्यक्षसिद्धानि कार्यहेत्वनुमेयतः तत्त्ववर्गात्पृथग्भूतसमाख्यान्यत एव हि । Bhūtānyadhyakşasiddhāni kāryahetvanumeyataḥ tattvavargātpṛthagbhūtasamākhyānyata eva hi. (190)

The five basic elements are known and proved. Hence it is described as different from the principle-groups by the law of causation.

सर्वप्रतीतिसद्भावगोचरं भूतमेव हि
विदुश्चतुष्टये चात्र सावकाशे तदास्थितिम् ।
Sarvapratītisadbhāvagocaraṃ bhūtameva hi
Viduścatuśtaye cātra sāvakāśe tadāsthitim. (191)

Since these five elements are affectionately considered by the all, the scholars accept the state of four principles including the space.

रुद्रशक्तिसमावेशः पंचया ननु चर्चते कोऽवकाशो भवेत्तत्र भौतावेशादिवर्णने । Rudraśaktisamāveśaḥ pañcadhā nanu carcyate Ko'vakāśo bhavettatra bhautāveśādivarṇane. प्रसङ्गादेतदितिचेत्समाधिः सम्भवन्नयम्

प्रसङ्गादेतदितिचेत्समाधिः सम्भवन्नयम् नास्माकं मानसावर्जी लोको भिन्नरुचिर्यतः । Prasangādetaditicetsamādhih sambhavannayam

(192)

(193)

There are said to be five kinds of Rudra Śakti's Samaveśa. Is it the occasion to describe the fearfull absorption etc.? Can we say, the five principles are described here for the context? Though it consists of solution, yet this cannot satisfy our minds because the social interests are different. (192-193)

Nāsmākam mānasāvarjī loko bhinnaruciryatah.

उच्यते द्वैतशास्त्रेषु परमेशाद्विमेदिता भूतादीनां यथा सात्र न तथा द्वयवर्जिते ।

Ucyate dvaitaśastresu parameśādvibheditā Bhūtādīnām yathā sātra na tathā dvayavarjīte.

(194)

The descriptions of these five principles etc. and its differences with Paramaśvara in the *Dvaitaśāstras*¹ are not the same as described in this dvaitarahita śāstra (the monistic scripture).

यावान्षट्त्रिशंकः सोऽयं यदन्यदि किंचन एतावती महादेवी रुद्रशक्तिरनर्गला ।

Yāvānşaṭtriṃśakaḥ so'yaṃ yadanyadapi kiñcana Etāvatī mahādevī rudraśaktiranargalā.

(195)

These groups of thirty six principles and the bhuvana etc. are free and these are Mahādevi Rudraśakti herself.

तत एव द्वितीयेऽस्मिन्नियकारे न्यरूप्यत धरादेविश्वरूपत्वं पांचदश्यादिभेदतः ।

Tata eva dvitīye'sminnadhikāre nyarūpyata Dharāderviśvarūpatvam pāñcadaśyādibhedatah.

(196)

Though these all are the light (on manifestation) of the Rudraśakti, in the Śr̄pūrvaśāstra, (second chapter), the universal form of the earth etc. are described with the fifteen differences (or divergence).

तस्माद्यथा पुरस्थेऽर्ये गुणाद्यंशांशिकामुखात् निरंशभावसंबोयस्तथैवात्रापि बुध्यताम् ।

Tasmādyathā purasthe 'rthe guṇādyaṃśāṃśikāmukhāt Niraṃśabhāvasaṃbodhastathaivātrāpi budhyatām.

(197)

Therefore, here it is clear that we know the complete pot only by seeing the pot partly with its qualities.

(200)

They, who worship partly or completely the all-pervasive God by the religion of thought-construct groups' conditioning, non-discursive, godliness, essence of power not different to the integrity, find the religionity of the integrated religions of self-conscience gleam. (198-200).

ऊचिवानत एव श्रीविद्याधिपतिरादरात् त्वत्त्वरूपमविकल्पमक्षजा कल्पने न विषयीकरोति चेत् अन्तठिल्लिखितचित्रसंविदो नो मवेयुरनुभृतयः स्फुटाः ।

(201)

That's why $\dot{S}r\bar{\imath}$ Vidyapati said it affectionately, if the non-discursive concept, formed out of senses, does not make your non-discursive Selfform $(svar\bar{\imath}pa)^1$, the subject of imagination, the feelings of inner knowledge will not gleam.

^{1.} Essential nature of the Self

The same thing is said in the Matanga Śāstra that the rays in the form of self-power, are the substratum of the Lord. This is an objective. In that lightship power, the Absolute Light, stainless and immoveable idol Śiva is present. She herself is the supreme state of the power. She is to be worshiped as subtle, pervaded in all directions, external immortality, veilless, gleaming and unending, tranquilled form of $s\bar{a}dhv\bar{\iota}$.

तथोपचारस्यात्रैतिन्निमित्तं सप्रयोजनम्

Ta eva dharmāḥ śaktyākhyāstaistairucitarūpakaīḥ
Ākāraih paryupāsyante tanmayībhāvasiddhaye. (206)

The power is the means which gleams in order to attain the absorption in Śiva. To attain the siddhi of Śiva-state, śakti is to be worshiped in various forms.

तत्र काचित्पुनः शक्तिरनन्ता वा मिताश्च वा आक्षिपेद्धवतासत्त्वन्यायाद् दूरान्तिकत्वतः ।

Tatra kācitpunaḥ śaktiranantā vā mitāśca vā Ākṣipeddhavatāsattvanyāyād dūrāntikatvataḥ.

(207)

In that, a power spreads like veil over the finite and infinite things.

तेन पूर्णस्वमावत्वं प्रकाशत्वं चिदात्मता भैरवत्वं विश्वशक्तीराक्षिपेद्वयापकत्वतः ।

Tena pūrņasvabhāvatvam prakāśatvam cidātmatā Bhairavatvam viśvaśaktīrākṣipedvyāpakatvataḥ.

(208)

Sadāśivādayastūrdhvavyāptyabhāvādadhojuşaḥ Śaktīh samākṣipeyustadupāsāntikadūrataḥ.

(209)

Śiva encircles the complete nature, self-effulgence, saṃvid, Bhairava-state and total power for He is eternal, whereas Sadāśiva encircles, in the lower scale, the power present nearby or far from the worship for He is not omnipresent.

इत्यं-मावे च शाक्ताख्यो वैकल्पिकपथक्रमः इह तूक्तो यतस्तस्मात् प्रतियोग्यविकल्पकम् । Itthaṃ-bhāve ca śāktākhyo vaikalpikapathakramaḥ Iha tūkto yatastasmāt pratiyogyavikalpakam. (210)

In this type of $bh\bar{a}vn\bar{a}$, the $krama^{I}$ of an alternative way viz. $S\bar{a}kta$, is present, but here what is described is not the alternative.

^{1.} Realization of Self by means of Kriyā yoga.

अविकल्पपथारूढो येन येन पथा विशेत् धरासदाशिवान्तेन तेन तेन शिवीभवेत्।

Avikalpapathārūrho yena yena pathā višet Dharāsadāśivāntena tena tena śivībhavet.

(211)

The person, who dwells in the path of non-discursive state, when absorbs in any state from the earth to Śiva-state, attains the Śivatva in every state.

निर्मले हृदये प्राग्र्यस्फुरद्भूम्यंश्रभासिनी प्रकाशे तन्मुखेनैव संवित्परशिवात्मता ।

Nirmale hṛdaye prāgryasphuradbhūmyamsabhāsinī Prakāśe tanmukhenaiva saṃvitparaśivātmatā.

(212)

The Light appears in the pure (dross-less) heart as an integrated form and with the touch of gleaming state, itself causes the Śāmbhava Samāveśa.

एवं परेच्छाशक्तयंशसदुपायमिमं विदुः शाम्भवाख्यं समावेशं सुमत्यन्तेनिवासिनः।

Evam parecchāśaktyaṃśasadupāyamimaṃ viduḥ Śāmbhavākhyaṃ samāveśaṃ sumatyantenivāsinaḥ. (213)

Hence Somadeva, the discple of Sumatinātha, accepts this means of willpower as the Śāmbhava Samāveśa.

शाक्तोऽय भण्यते चेतोघीमनोहंकृतिः स्फुटम् सविकल्पतया मायामयमिच्छादि वस्तुतः ।

Śākto'tha bhaṇyate cetodhīmanohaṃkṛtiḥ sphuṭam Savikalpatayā māyāmayamicchādi vastutaḥ.

(214)

Now the $\dot{S}\bar{a}ktop\bar{a}ya$ is being described. This is a collective form of mindstuff (citta), intellect (buddhi), mind (mana) and ego (ahamkāra). This is full of $M\bar{a}y\bar{a}$ for this posseses the thought-constructs, but actually this is desire etc. (i.e. knowledge and action).

अभिमानेन सङ्कल्पाध्यवसायक्रमेण यः शाक्तः स मायोपायोऽपि तदन्ते निर्विकल्पकः ।

Abhimānena sankalpādhyavasāyakrameņa yaḥ Śāktaḥ sa māyopayo'pi tadante nirvikalpakaḥ

(215)

The \dot{Sakta} Samāveśa, which takes place due to its own vow and will, transforms into non-destructive-state through it is $M\bar{a}yop\bar{a}ya$.

पन्नोर्वे याविकल्पा मूर्दन्ना सा शाम्भवी परम् अपूर्णा मातृदौरात्म्यात्तदपाये विकस्वरा ।

Paśorvai yāvikalpā bhūrdaśā sā śāmbhavī param Apūrņā matrdaurātmyāttadapāye viksvarā.

(216)

When the incomplete state of thought-contruct of Paśu-Pramātā takes place out of the ego of being Pramātā, that becomes the state of vikasvara Parama Śhāmbhavī (due to the destruction of that).

एवं वैकल्पिकी भूमिः शाक्ते कर्तृत्ववेदने यस्यां स्फुटे परं त्वस्यां सङ्कोचः पूर्वनीतितः ।

Evam vaikalpikī bhūmiḥ śākte kartṛtvavedane Yasyām sphute param tvasyām samkocaḥ pūrvanītitaḥ. (217)

> तथा सङ्कोचसम्भारविलायनपरस्य तु सा यथेष्टान्तराभासकारिणी शक्तिरुज्ज्वला ।

Tathā sankocasambhāravilāyanaparasya tu Sā yatheṣṭāntarābhāsakāriṇī Śaktirujjvalā.

(218)

In that thought-construct state, the \dot{Sakta} knowledge and action gleam together, but in accordance with the previous system, there remains contraction (limitation). Again in that state, the pure \dot{Sakta} -state reflects that gleams enough internally.

ननु वैकल्पिकी किं धीराणवे नास्ति तत्र सा अन्योपायात्र तूच्चाररहितत्वं न्यरूपयत् ।

Nanu vaikalpikī kim dhīrāņave nāsti tatra sā Anyopāyātra tūccārahitatvam nyarūpayat.

(219)

The answer to the question, does the āṇavopāya not have the intellect of thought-construct, is that exists with other means like utterance etc. Here it is described as without utterance.

उच्चारश्रब्देनात्रोक्ता बह्वन्तेन तदादयः शक्त्युपाये न सन्त्येते भेदाभेदौ हि शक्तिता ।

Uccāraśabdenātroktā bahvantena tadādayah Śaktyupāye na santyete bhedābhedau hi śaktitā.

(220)

Here, the utterance must be understood as the utterance etc. for it is plural in the $\dot{s}loka$. These do not present in $\dot{S}\bar{a}ktop\bar{a}ya$. Bhed $\bar{a}bheda$ is prominent there.

अणुर्नाम स्फुटो भेदस्तदुपाय इहाणवः विकल्पनिश्चयात्मैव पर्यन्ते निर्विकल्पकः ।

Aņurnāma sphuto bhedastadupāya ihāṇavaḥ Vikalpaniścayātmaiva paryante nirvikalpaḥ.

(221)

Vividly Anu is difference. $\bar{A}navop\bar{a}ya$ is the means in which it exists. It is the certain form of thought-construct. It leads towards non-discursive state.

ननु धीमानसाहंकृत्पुमांसो व्याप्नुयुः शिवम् नायोवर्तितया तेन कथितं कथमीदृशम् ।

Nanu dhīmānsāhamkṛtpumamso vyapnuyuḥ Śivam Nādhovartitayā tena kathitam kathamīdṛśam.

(222)

The question is, since the puruṣas can not attain the Śiva because of their egos, clouded their intellects and minds, how such is said, there is possibility (of means to attain the Śiva Samāveśa through intellect etc.)?

उच्यते वस्तुतोऽस्माकं शिव एव यथाविधः स्वरूपगोपनं कृत्वा स्वप्रकाशः पुनस्तथा ।

Ucyate vastuto'smākaṃ Śiva eva yathāvidhaḥ Svarūpagopanaṃ kṛtvā svaprakāśaḥ punastathā. (223)

The reply is, according to we monists', actually Śiva Himself conceals His Real Nature (the True-form or Svarūpa) by dint of His Free-Will-Law (Svātantrya) and again reveals his light in the same way.

द्वैतशास्त्रे मतङ्गादौ चाप्येतत्सुनिरूपितम् अयोव्याप्तुः शिवस्यैव स प्रकाशो व्यवस्थितः । येन बुद्धिमनोमूमावपि माति परं पदम् ।

Dvaitašāstre Matangadau cāpyetatsunirūpitam
Adhovyāptuh Šivasyaiva sa prakāšo vyavasthitah. (224)
Yena buddhimanobhūmāvapi bhāti param padam. (225)

This is also beautifully described in the dualistic text, Matanga Tantra. Intellect etc. are the organized Light of same $\acute{S}iva$, through which this light of higher state reflects ($\bar{a}bh\bar{a}sa$, self-manifestation) on the planes of intellect and mind. (224-225)

द्वावप्येतौ समावेशौ निर्विकल्पार्णवं प्रति प्रयात एव तद्रुढिं विना नैव हि किंचन ।

Dvāvapyetau samāveśau nirvikalpārņavam prati Prayāta eva tadrūdhim vinā naiva hi kiñcana. (226)

Both the absorptions ($\bar{A}nava$ and $\bar{S}akta$) merge into nirvikalpaka arnava, i.e. $\bar{S}ambhava$ absorption ($samave \hat{s}a$), for we attain nothing until we reach this state.

संवित्तिफलभिच्चात्र न प्रकल्प्येत्यतोऽब्रवीत् कल्पनायाश्च मुख्यत्वमत्रैव किल सूचितम । Saṃvittiphalabhiccātra na prakalpyetyato'bravīt Kalpanāyāśca mukhyatvamatraiva kila sūcitam. (227)

That is why it is said by some sages-we must not imagine the difference in fruits of Samvit. Here, the importance of imagination is emphasized.

विकल्पापेक्षया यो ऽपि प्रामाण्यं प्राह तन्मते तद्विकल्पक्रमोपात्तनिर्विकल्पप्रमाणता ।

Vikalpāpeķsayā yo'pi prāmāṇyam prāha tanmate Tadvikalpakramopāttanirvikalpapramāṇatā.

(228)

He who considers the proof (of non-discursive knowledge) with the expectation of thought-construct, considers the proof only by getting that through the thought-constuct-order.

रत्नतत्त्वमविद्वान्प्राङ्निश्चयोपायचर्चनात् अनुपायाविकल्पाप्तौ रत्नज्ञ इति मण्यते ।

Ratnatattvamavidvānprānniscayopāyacarcanāt Anupāyāvikalpāptau ratnajña iti bhanyate.

(229)

As one, who is considered as a specialist of jewels, without having knowledge of jewel, only knows the non-discursive knowledge by the discussion of pre-means, similarly we understand the knower of āṇavopāya.

अभेदोपायमत्रोक्तं शास्मवं शाक्तमुच्यते भेदाभेदात्मकोपायं भेदोपायं तदाणवम् ।

Abhedopāyamatroktam šāmbhavam šāktamucyate Bhedābhedātmakopāyam bhedopāyam tadāṇavam.

(230)

Therefore, here, abhedopāya, bhedābhedātmaka and bhedopāya are called śāmbhava, śākta and āṇavopāya respectively.

अन्ते ज्ञानेऽत्र सोपाये समस्तः कर्मविस्तरः प्रस्फुटेनैव रूपेण भावी सोऽन्तर्भविष्यति ।

Ante jñāne'tra sopāye samastah karmavistarah Prasphutenaiva rūpeņa bhāvī so'ntarbhavişyati.

(231)

All the actions and activities (including initiation etc), described in the following ślokas, merge in the ultimate knowledge i.e. āṇavapāya.

किया हि नाम विज्ञानान्नान्यद्वस्तु कमात्मताम् उपायवशतः प्राप्तं तत्क्रियेति पुरोदितम् ।

Kriyā hi nāma vijñānānnānyadvastu kramātmatām Upāyavasataḥ prāptam tatkriyeti puroditam.

(232)

There exists nothing which is different to kriya and vijñāna. It is already said, when a thing attains karma through upāya (means) will convert into kriyā.

सम्यग्ज्ञानं च मुक्तये्ककारणं स्वपरस्थितम् यतो हि कल्पनामात्रं स्वपरादिविभूतयः।

Samyagjñānam ca muktyekakāraṇam svaparasthitam Yato hi kalpanāmātram svaparādivibhūtayaḥ.

(233)

The Right knowledge of Self and non-self ¹ is the only cause of salvation, for these are the imaginative splendours (of the same Parāsamvit).

तुल्ये काल्पनिकत्वे च यदैक्यस्पुरणात्मकः गुठः स तावदेकात्मा सिद्धो मुक्तश्च मण्यते ।

Tulye kālpanikatve ca yadaikyasphuraṇātmakaḥ Guruh sa tāvadekātmā siddho muktaśca bhanyate.

(234)

The spiritual teacher, who is describable as monistic Samvid by the equivalence of the imaginative splendours, is one, proved and liberated.

^{1.} Ahantā is self, Idanta is non-self. When the feeling of Ahantā expands and merges into the whole universe by the Śuddha Vikalpa that 'This Universe is nothing but the manifestation of my own power', the feeling of Viśvāhantā reveals from within. This is Right Knowledge.

यावानस्य हि संतानो गुरुस्तावत्स कीर्तितः सम्यग्ज्ञानमयश्चेति स्वात्मना मुच्यते ततः ।

Yāvānasya hi santāno gurustāvatsa kīrtitaḥ Samyagjñānamayaśceti svātmanā mucyate tataḥ.

(235)

तत एव स्वसंतानं ज्ञानी तारयतीत्यदः युक्तयुगमाभ्यां संसिद्धं तावानेको यतो मुनिः ।

Tata eva svasantānam jñānī tārayatītyadah

Yuktyāgamābhyām samsiddham tāvāneko yato munih. (236)

He is called Guru till his tradition lasts through his disciples and grand discples. After that he is liberated by dint of Right knowledge. Hence, a knower of Truth (of Samvit) liberates his tradition. It is proved by reason and āgama for he is the soul teacher of a long-period.

तेनात्र ये चोदयन्ति ननु ज्ञानाद्विमुक्तता दीक्षादिका क्रिया चेयं सा कथं मुक्तये भवेत् ।

Tenātra ye codayanti nanu jñānādvimuktatā Dīkśādikā kriyā ceyam sā katham muktaye bhavet. ज्ञानात्मा सेति चेन्ज्ञानं यत्रस्थं तं विमोचयेत्

(237)

अन्यस्य मोचने वापि भवेत्किं नासमंजसम् इति ते मूलतः क्षिप्ता यत्त्वत्रान्यैः समर्थितम् ।

Jñānātmā seti cejjñānam yatrastham tam vimocayet Anyasya mocane vāpi bhavetkim nāsamañjasam Iti te mūlatah kṣiptā yattvatrānyaih samarthitam.

(238)

So aspirants ask, if the knowledge liberates, how the activities are the forms of knowledge, it will liberate those who are with it? Will it liberate others who are not fulfilling these activities? Hence it has been objected and favoured by the dualists.

मलो नाम किल द्रव्यं चक्षुःस्थपटलादिवत् तिबहन्त्री किया दीक्षा त्वंजनादिककर्मवत् ।

Malo nāma kila dravyam cakşuhsthapatalādivat Tadvihantrī kriyā dīkṣā tvañjanādikakarmavat. तत्पुरस्तान्निषेत्स्यामो युक्त्यागमविगर्हितम्

(239)

तत्पुरस्तान्निषतस्यामां युक्त्यागमविगहितम् मलमायाकर्मणां च दर्शयिष्यामहे स्थितिम् ।

Tatpurastānnişetsyāmo yuktyāgamavigarhitam Malamāyākarmaṇām ca darśayiṣyāmahe sthitim.

(240)

Ther is a substance like curtain over the ignorance like collyrium (black pigment) wipes out that curtain. We will unveil the ignorance which is criticised by the reason and $\bar{a}gama$, and will clear the state of ignorance, $m\bar{a}y\bar{a}$ and action.

एवं शक्तित्रयोपायं यज्ज्ञानं तत्र पश्चिमम् मूलं तदुत्तरं मध्यमुत्तरोत्तरमादिमम् ।

Evam šaktitrayopāyam yajjñānam tatra paśchimam Mūlam taduttaram maddhyamuttarottaramādimam.

(241)

Hence, the āṇavopāya is the first means of that knowledge which consists of means having the powers of desire, knowledge and action. This first means āṇavopāya again is followed by śaktopāya and śāmbhavopāya in ascendence respectively.

ततोऽपि परमं ज्ञानमुपायादिविवर्जितम् आनन्दशक्तिविश्रान्तमनुत्तरमिहोच्यते ।

Tato'pi paramam jñānamupāyādivivarjitam Ānandaśaktiviśrāntamanuttaramihocyate.

(242)

Their also exists a knowledge which is absolute, ultimate and devoid of means etc. This rests in the $\bar{A}nanda\dot{S}akti$ (the power of ecstasy) and that is called Anuttara.

तत्स्वप्रकाशं विज्ञानं विद्याविद्येश्वरादिभिः अपि दर्लभसदभावं श्रीसिद्धातन्त्र उच्यते ।

Tatsvaprakāśam vijñānam vidyāvidyeśvarādibhih Api durlabhasadbhāvam Śrīsiddhātantra ucyate.

(243)

मालिन्यां सूचितं चैतत्पटलेऽष्टादशे स्फुटम् न चैतदप्रसन्नेन शङ्करेणेति वाक्यतः । इत्यनेनैव पाठेन मालिनीविजयोत्तरे

Mālinyām sūcitam caitatpatale 'stādase sphuṭam Na caitadaprasannena Śankareneti vākyataḥ. Ityanenaiva pāthena Malinīvijayottare

(244)

This Prakāśa Vijñāna (the Light)) is rare even by vidyā and vidyeśvara, as is said in the Śrīsiddhātantra, and in the Malinīvijayottra Tantra, it is said (in the eighteenth chapter) that, not the unhappy Śankara preaches this, as this tantra clarified.

इति ज्ञानचतुष्कं यत्सिद्धिमुक्तिमहोदयम् तन्मया तन्त्र्यते तन्त्रालोकनाम्न्यत्र शासने । Iti jñānacatuşkaṃ yatsiddhimuktimahodayam Tanmayā tantryate tantrālokanāmnyatra śāsane. (245)

These all four knowledges will be discussed elaborately by me in this work viz. Tantrāloka, which are the bestowers of fruits and salvation, lead towards great height

तत्रेह यद्यदन्तर्वा बहिर्वा परिमृश्यते अनुद्धाटितरूपं तत्पूर्वमेव प्रकाशते । Tatreha yadyadantarvā bahirvā parimṛśyate Anudghāṭitarūpaṃ tatpūrvameva prakāśate. (246)

That reflects already in the mind which appears outwardly or inwardly as matter. The form of that, is primarily non-appearing.

तथानुद्घाटिताकारा निर्वाच्येनात्मना प्रथा संञ्जयः कुत्रचिद्रूपे निश्चिते सति नान्यथा ।

Tathānudghāṭitākārā nirvācyenātmanā prathā Saṃśayah kutracidrūpe niścite sati nānyathā.

(247)

(250)

That, which is not appeared in any form because of its unutterable or indescribable quality, seems doubtfull, also called as saṃsaya, appears when it is certain in some forms otherwise not.

एतिकिमिति मुख्येऽस्मिन्नेतदंश्रः सुनिश्चितः संशयोऽस्तित्वनास्त्यादिधर्मानुदुधाटितात्मकः ।

Etatkimiti mukhye'sminnetadamsah suniscitah Samsayo'stitvanāstyādidharmānudghāṭitātmakah. (248)

What is this? In this doubtfull question, the term 'this" is certain. Doubt arises where the existence and the non-existence do not appear.

किमित्येतस्य शब्दस्य नाधिकोऽर्थः प्रकाशते किं त्वनुन्मुद्रिताकारं वस्त्वेवाभिदघात्ययम् ।

Kimityetasya śabdasya nādhiko'rthah prakāśate Kim tvanunmudritākāram vastvevābhidadhātyayam. (249)

The word 'what' does not seem much meaningfull in the meaning of 'this', but 'this' reflects the same matter in an unappeared form.

स्याणुर्वा पुरुषो वेति न मुख्योऽस्त्येष संश्रयः भूयःस्ययर्मजातेषु निश्चयोत्पाद एव हि ।

Sthāṇurvā puruṣo veti na mukhyo'styeṣa saṃśayaḥ Bhūyaḥsthadharmajateṣu niścayotpāda eva hi.

This is sthāṇu (the firm, fixed, unmovable) or Puruṣa? This kind of doubt is not important (main) whereas this affirms some religions among the many religions

आमर्श्रनीयद्वैरूप्यानुद्घाटनवश्चात्पुनः संश्रयः स किमित्यंशे विकल्पस्त्वन्यथा स्फुटः ।

Āmarśanīyadvairūpyānudghāṭanavaśāṭpunaḥ Samśayaḥ sa kimityamśe vikalpastvanyathā sphuṭaḥ.

(251)

Since these two touching forms (Puruṣa and Stāṇu, the Absolute and the immovable) are not revealed, the doubt 'kim' (what) arises¹. Otherwise, if these are vividly visible, this part 'kim' is clearly thought-construct.

तेनानुद्घाटितात्मत्वभावप्रथनमेव यत् प्रथमं स इहोद्येशः प्रश्नः संशय एव च ।

Tenānudghāṭitātmatvabhāvaprathanameva yat Prathamam sa ihoddeśah samśaya eva ca.

(252)

Therefore, the nature and form of which is not clear, causes primarily illustration (statement), question and doubt.

तथानुद्घाटिताकारमावप्रसरवर्त्मना प्रसरन्ती स्वसंवित्तिः प्रष्ट्री शिष्यात्मतां गता ।

Tathānudghāṭitākārabhāvaprasaravartmanā prasarantī svasaṃvittiḥ praṣṭrī śiṣyātmatāṃ gatā.

(253)

According to this system, the same Absolute Samvit takes the form of disciple (His own pramāta-form) in the discending order as Paśyanti etc. This is the sankoca (contraction) of the Samvid.

तथान्तरपरामर्शनिश्चयात्मतिरोहितेः प्रसरानन्तरोद्भूतसंहारोदयभागपि ।

Tathāntaraparāmarśaniścayātmatirohiteḥ Prasarānantarodbhūtasamhārodayabhāgapi.

(254)

^{1.} The part of the question 'kim' arises due to the non-revealing expressions of the Absolute and the firm.

यावत्येव भवेद्वाद्धप्रसरे प्रस्फुटात्मनि अनुन्मीलितरूपा सा प्रष्ट्री तावति भण्यते ।

Yāvatyeva bhavedvāhyaprasare prasphuṭātmani Anunmīlitarūpā sā praṣṭrī tāvati bhanyate.

(255)

Since He is Absolute, without a second, he refers as a discple until He (the Saṃvit) expands Himself outwardly. Till then, He takes the form of a *pramāta*¹ inwardly by dint of his action of withdrawal of manifestation or veiling of self² etc, one of his ceaseless five-fold acts³. (254-255)

स्वयमेवं विबोधश्च तथा प्रश्नोत्तरात्मकः गुरुशिष्यपदेऽप्येष देहमेदो ह्यतात्त्विकः।

Svayamevam vibhodhaśca tathā praśnottarātmakaḥ Guruśisyapade'pyeṣa dehabhedo hyatāttvikah.

(256)

Similarly this is same as the enquiry and the knowledge of the nature (of the Samvit) in the form of disciple and teacher. The divergence in forms (body) is unreal⁴.

बोयो हि बोयरूपत्वादन्तर्नानाकृतीः स्थिताः बहिराभासयत्येव द्राक्सामान्यविशेषतः ।

Bodho hi bodharūpatvādantarnānākṛtīḥ sthitāḥ Bahirābhāsayatyeva drāksāmānyaviśeṣataḥ

(257)

The enlightenment reflects without any substratum in the forms, which is outside, which it possesses inside, for it is the form of enlightenment.

1. Knower, subject, experient 2. Saṃhāra, Anunmīlīta Rūpa and Tirodhāna, vilaya, veiling of Self, sankoca, 3. Pañcakṛtya, the ceaseless five-fold act of Śiva, viz. manifestation (Sṛṣti), maintenance of manifestation (sthiti), withdrawal from manifestation (saṃhara), veiling of self (vilaya), Grace (anugraha) or the five-fold act of ābhāsana, rakti, vimarśana, bījāvasthāpana and vilāpana, 4. When the srakṣyamāṇa viśeṣāṃśa¹ ceases, the knower gets the knowledge. The decision takes place. Otherwise, the certainity of knowledge does not come into existence even in the millennium of mortal universal rules until the knower satisfies.

At the same time, when by the thought-constuct, the al-inclusive characteristic sets a forthcoming statement, the Samvit chooses that portion which is to happen in the future as creation³.

Now I am going to describe the statement which is of pūrvaja-anuja¹ divergence among the trio i.e. uddeśa, lakṣana and parīkṣā. The topics which will be discussed in this treatise are vijānabhedaka², gatopāya³, third paropāya⁴, sāktopāya, naropāya, seventh kālopāya⁵ cakrodaya⁶, deśādhvā³, tatvādhvāħ, tatvabhedana, kālādhvā⁰, śaktipāta¹⁰, tirodhāna¹¹, dīkṣopakramaṇa, samayī dīkśā in pautrikavidhi, prameya prakṛyā, sūkṣmādīkṣā, lingoddhāra, abhiśeka, antyeṣṭi, śrāddhakalpanā, śeṣavṛttinirūpaṇa, lingārcā, nimittaja, bahubhit parva, rahasyacaryā, mantaugha, maṇdala, mudrikāvidhi, ekīkāra, entering into svasvarūpa, śāstramelana, āyātikathana and the presentation of fruition of the work.

The statement of general name is pūrvaja uddeśa. The statement of special name is anujoddeśa. It is also known as vibhāga. It is said elsewhere. From vijñānabhid to nirūpana is pūrvaja uddeša. Śāmbhava etc. are viiñānabhid in which the statements about the divergence of science as $S\bar{a}mbhava$, $S\bar{a}kta$ and $\bar{A}nava$ are discussed. Gatopāva is Anupāva. The discussion of pautrika vidhi is different. The same is with the prameyaprakryā. In the discussion of pautrika vidhi detailed in the chapter of anujoddeśa, the meaning of prameyaprakryā is stated and described clearly. Here the preceptor Śrī Abhinava Gupta makes a statement. This statement is very remarkable. This is the statement which signifies the essence and the message of this great work Śrī Tantrāloka, the magnum opus. He states that practicing of these thirty chapters makes an aspirant Bhairava. A scholar can practice all these āhnikas in a right manner and becomes the Bhairava. Sāksādbhairavo bhavet. This statement indicates the purpose and the intention of creating this voluminous work. He was a monist Saivite, regarded by that time as Maheśvara. This way, His Light is still reflecting, even through this work. That is why it is said, by His disciples, one must come across this entire work to please the Maheśvara. Śri Jayaratha has also made this statement in his commentary of this work. He clarifies his intention by saying that through the discipline of this Trikaśāstra, may my thoughtconstructs be nourished and cultured. And from the very first śloka of this first chapter, thought-construct (vikalpa) purifies itself, mutation takes place in the thoughts. An integral, enormous energy to regenerate comes out from within. This is Śaktipāta, discent of Śakti leads towards cakrodava.

^{1.} Statement of general name is $p\bar{u}rvaja$ (anterior, $s\bar{a}m\bar{a}nya$) uddeśa. Statement of special name is anuja (posterior, viśeṣa) uddeśa, 2. $s\bar{a}mbhavop\bar{a}ya$, $s\bar{a}ktop\bar{a}ya$, $\bar{a}navop\bar{a}ya$, 3. $anup\bar{a}ya$, 4. $s\bar{a}strop\bar{a}ya$, 5. $\bar{a}navop\bar{a}ya$, 6. emergence of the collective whole of saktis, 7. $sal\bar{a}$, tattva and salta bhuvana, 8. one of the adhvās on the objective side, 9. salta va and salta v

The aspirant, who practices rightly all these thirty seven chapters, becomes Bhairava Himself. What is amazing if the knower of thirty seven chapters becomes Bhairava for *anus*¹ too attained this state through this knowledge? This is a general statement. Now we discuss the special statement.

In the discussion of vijñāna of divergence (of Ṣāmbhava etc.), all nomenclature is stated respectively. In next discussion, the explanation of gatopāyabheda is given.

(326)

Mantrasvarūpa and its vīrya are described in the thirtieth chapter. Śūlābjabheda, vyomeśa, svastika etc, will be described in detail in the chapter thirty one. Guṇapradhāntābheda, its svarūpa vīrya and kalābheda are stated in mudrāprakāśa.

Anujoddeśa is not stated in the chapter thirty three for there exists a vivid non- difference of $\bar{\imath}$ sa of thirty two principles. Since all the previous chapters's main subjects are full of objects so it is not distinguished in the chapters.

Hence, uddeśa vidhi is described for sukhasangraha and then lakṣaṇa and parīkṣā will be explained respectively.

आत्मा संविद्यकाश्वस्थितिरनवयवा संविदित्यात्तशिक्त-व्रातं तस्य स्वरूपं स च निजमहसश्छादनाद् बद्धरूपः आत्मज्योतिःस्वभावप्रकटनविधिना तस्य मोक्षः स चायं चित्राकारस्य चित्रः प्रकटित इह यत्संग्रहेणार्थ एषः ।

Ātmā is the svarūpa or the real nature of Samvid Prakāśa. Samvit is indivisible or integral. The group of infinite powers is His nature and He is bound due to the veiling of his absolute form. The emancipation takes place when He manifests His nature of Light by the process of appearance of that amazing state. Therefore in this chapter, this subject is discussed in brief.

मिष्याज्ञानं तिमिरमसमान् दृष्टिदोषान्प्रसूते तत्सद्भावाद्विमलमि तद्भाति मालिन्यषाम यत्तु प्रेक्ष्यं दृश्नि परिगतं तैमिरीं दोषमुद्रां दूरं रुन्द्धेत्प्रभवतु कथं तत्र मालिन्यशङ्का ।

False knowledge gives birth to sight-aberration like darkness. By the presence of it, the pure fullness appears as impure and incomplete. If we wipe out this distortion of darkness, how can be we afraid of the impurity!

O group of matter! Since you are playing by veiling your Absolute form with numerous gestures by force in the hearts of beings, they who call you inert, are inert in themselves for they are ignorant but consider themselves as knowable. I feel, their inertness too is the seat of worship for the possibility of your ever-evenness.

(333)

In the spiritual discourse of this precept, the teachers of \dot{Siva} -state, who are divorced from the impurities and the knowers of Light, are the only deserving beings (for they have attained the Grace). To request for the study of this precept to those who are devoid of the Grace and are failed to wipe out the impurities, is just like to pray for a dark spot, disrepute and loss.

Essence of some important terms

Anuttara: Nāsti uttaram yasmāt. One than whom nothing is higher. This is different from 'amṛta' in essence. This is beautifull, magnificant, dynamic and the bestower of eternal existence to 'jīva bhāva'. This is an amazing state of ecstatic bhāva, where, yatrāsti na bhayam kincinna jarā vyādhayo'pi vā na vighnā na ca vai mṛṭyurna kālaḥ kalayecca tam.

i.e. no form of fear exists, no right of old age prevails, no possibility of any disease, no obstructions, no any existence of death nor kāla is able to play anything.

That abiding state is the home of a 'jīva', an empirical being, truly and finally. That is 'amā kalā', the seventeenth Śakti aspect of 'amṛta' (kalā saptadaśī yāsāvamṛtākārarūpiṇī: as told by Jayaratha, whose commentary 'Viveka' is available on the Tantrāloka). In terms of principle, 'amā' kalā form is that Anuttara principle.

This $bh\bar{a}va$ originates (manifests) from visarga (emanation, creation). The word for 'I' in Sanskrit is \mathfrak{RE} (aham). 'A' (\mathfrak{R}) and 'ha' (\mathfrak{E}) between themselves include all the letters of the Sanskrit language. 'A' (\mathfrak{R}) represents $prak\bar{a}\acute{s}a$ or $\acute{S}iva$, of the nature of the body as anuttara. 'Ha' (\mathfrak{E}) represents $vimar\acute{s}a$ or $\acute{S}akti$ (Uma. The light or splendour of $\acute{S}iva$. $Icch\bar{a}$ $\acute{s}aktir$ $um\bar{a}$ $kum\bar{a}ri$ - $\acute{S}iva$ \ddot{u} \ddot{u} \ddot{u} indicative of the expansion of $\acute{S}akti$, the iva iva of kalā. When this visarga (:) as h joins the form of anuttara (a), that sounds as hakāra. This is the śruti of that joining bhāva-saṅghatta, yāmala, ardhanārīśvara, ubhaya, coupling state. This manifests, spandas from visarga in the form of ecstasy. Visarga appears from Anuttara causes ecstasy, we can say in other words. Eternal joy or bliss is His nature. To express outwardly is His very desire. Thus, this is 'Anuttarāmrta Kula'. Hence this is the journey from 'aham'(अहं) to 'ah' (अ:)From individual (empirical) mind to Universal (rational, in terms of Kant) Mind. From chitta to Citi. From nimesa to unmesa. From 'a' (of aum) to unmanā. From tirodhāna vyāpāra or svarūpa gopana krtya to the anugraha vyāpāra or svaprakāśa krtva of Parama Śiva. From sankoca to unmajjana or vastuto'smākam (Ucvate, Śiva unmīlana. vathāvidhah. svarūpagopanam krtvā svaprakāśah punastathā, śloka-223). That amazing ecstasy is termed cakitamudrā in respect to a śloka from Vijnāna Bhairava-Abindumavisargam (should be read Abindum avisargam) ca akāram japato mahān, udeti devi sahasā jñānaughah parameśvarah. If one recites the letter 'a'(अ) without 'bindu' or 'visarga' then, O goddess, Parameśvara - a magnificent torrent of wisdom appears suddenly. That is 'Udyamo Bhairavah' another Śiva sūtra. That means Bhairava is not exertion but sudden emergence (flash) of Light (consciousness). Śrī Abhinava Gupta uses an analogy for this sudden flash as vidyullekhā (lightning) in the form of 'Nartaka ātmā' (another Śiva sūtra) in his prayer in 'the Tantrāloka'-

Naumi devīm śarīrasthām nṛtyato bhairavākṛte, prāvrnmeghaghanavyomavidyullekhāvilāsinīm.

In sounding 'a' with visarga i.e. ah, there will be exhalation (rechaka). Vijñānabhairava implies that the letter 'a' (अ) should be recited in a kumbhaka state i.e. in a state of the retentation of the breath as 'a' (अ). The letter 'a' (अ) is the initial letter of the alphabet. It is the source and origin of all other letters. It is neither generated out of any other letter, nor is it dissolved in any other letter (i.e. consonant). A consonant can be uttered with the help of this vowel, prefix or suffix. It symbolizes anuttara, the absolute, the state which is beyond, the state in which Śiva and śakti are in indistinguishable unity. This is the state of the harmonious fusion of Śiva-śakti, Śiva-śakti-sāmarasya.

Tato'pi paramam jñānamupāyādivivarjitam Ānandaśaktiviśrāntamanuttaramihocyate.

Their also exists a knowledge which is absolute, ultimate and devoid of means etc. This rests in the ĀnandaŚakti (the power of ecstasy) and that is called Anuttara. (Tantrāloka, chapter one, śloka 242).

The Anuttara is the Absolute void is Bhairava who is beyond the senses and the mind.

Sikhipakṣaiś citrarūpair manḍalaih śūnyapañcakam, dhyāyato'nuttare śūnye praveśo hṛdaye bhavet (Vijñāna Bhairava). The yogī should meditate in his heart on the five voids appearing in the circles of motley feathers of peacocks. Thus will he be absorbed in the Absolute void. This is actually the samāveśa of anuttara śūnya of the yogi in the Bhairava form. In Yoginīhṛdaya, in the seed syllable (bījākṣara) '#i', there states the bhāvanā (creative contemplation) of six voids. The sixth void is the absorbtion in Anuttara state.

This is the Paramam Padam, the abide of Viṣḥu in vedic terms - Tadviṣṇoḥ paramam padam sadā paśyanti sūrayaḥ, divīva cakṣurātatam (Rgveda).

Citpratibhā: Cit is the Absolute, the consciousness that is the unchanging principle of all changes and Pratibhā is ever creative activity of consciousness or Parā Śakti. 'Prati', in Sanskrit Grammer, as a prefix to verbs it means: back, in return, again, as a prefix to nouns not directly derived from verbs it means: resemblance. Finally, 'Prati' means pratipam i.e. contrary, in other words though known, now appearing as forgotten through delusion (Pratīpamātmābhimukhyena jñānam prakāśah pratyabhijñā, as Abhinav Gupta gives the exposition of Pratyabhijñā, in Īsvara-pratyabhijñā-Vimarśinī. Also in the first śloka of seventh chapter: tattatpadārthakramarūrsitā, caisā pratibhā akramānantacidrūpah pramātā sa maheśvarah). In Pratyabhijñā, 'abhi' means facing i.e. close at hand, illumination or knowledge. 'iñā' Pratyabhijñā means re-cognition of the real self (tasya Maheśvarasyapratyabhijñā). Recognition, Resemblence, Re-collection. Nigama uses for this meaning the term 'abhijñā'. In Pali, it is paccabhijñā. Sage Gautama uses the same term 'pratyabhijñā' in his Nyāya sūtras. For this, Bhatrhari uses the term 'sphota'. 'Pratyavamarśa', the word used from Nigama and Vākyapadīya to Abhinava Gupta (in I.P.Vi. 'Ahampratyavamarśo vah prakāśātmapi vāgvapuh, first śloka, sixth chapter) is also close to it. We find a word in Greek Theatre, in the similar way i.e. Anagnorisis. Pratyabhijñānaratnam ca Rāmāvādarśavatkrtī (64/12, Raghuvansam Kālidāsa). Pratibhāsa is closed to pratibha, reflection. What this implies is actually Śāmbhava Yoga

i.e. 1. In which there is a sudden flash of the I-Consciousness of Śiva, 2. In which all ideation ceases completely, 3. Which occurs to those whose entire consciousness is absorbed in the inner Bhairava principle. Pratibhāsa means occurring to, flashing across, the mind at once (sudden), perception, Udyama, light, splendour, bright, luminous, prajñā. The light of Śiva. The Śakti of Śiva. The dance of Śiva. The Icchā śakti is Pratibhā. The reflection of Śiva is pratibimba. Abhinava Gupta presents the analogy of 'the mirror of the city'. The city is bimba. Reflection of the city in the cosciousness (svātantrya) as mirror of Siva, pratibimba. Literally means, a flash of light, revelation, characterized by immediacy and freshness. In āgama, it is known as Parā Śamvit or Cit Śakti. The paśyanti stage, pratibhā is prajñā in Nyāya-Vaiśesika and Vedanta, the Arsa Jñana. The Rsi, the seer. The self-revelation of the supreme Śabda. Vimarśa, Logos, sphurattā, spanda, Svātantrya, Parāhantā, Aiśvarya, Citpratibhā. Anatacidrūpa, akrama. 'parā sā pratibhā devyāh param rūpam mameritam' (Tripurā Rahasya, Jñānakhanda). Nāda, the unbounded potency or basic continuum of power, condenses itself into dynamic point or centre, called bindu, the source of all manifestation. In the highest stage of manifestation, Vācaka (śabda) and vācva (artha) are one. Then there are six paths or steps (adhvās) of creative descent, the sadadhvā. First, the polarity of varna and kalā. Next the polarity of mantra and tattva, and then the polarity of pada and bhuvana. The triad (trika) kalā, tattva and bhuvana is called deśādhvā and the triad varna, mantra and pada is known as kālādhvā. Varnādhvā is of the nature of pramā (the exact knowledge). It is the resting place of prameva (object), pramāna (means of knowledge) and pramātā (experient). Citpratibhā means the desire of Caitanya, the Absolute, gives rest to pramātā Śiva in the form of pramiti. Pramātā, pramāņa and prameya are the śūlas of Śiva, called triśūla, where appears the lotus on which rests Citpratibhā. She is Parāvāk Sarasvatī. Vimalakalāśrayā (here kalāśraya and kalāśrayā are same). While starting this grantha 'the Tantrāloka', Abhinava Gupta bows down to this deity, srsti mahājananī, his mother, the divine mother (the Mother Nature, in the words of Śri Aurobindo), the Mother of all pramātās, of all empirical individuals, reflects Her Light to all as Citpratibhā.

Sadāśiva: This tattva may be said to be the first principle of manifestation. Out of the Śiva-sakti state, emerges Sadāśiva tattva, where consciousness is of the form, 'I am This'.'I' is the ahanta, the Divine Experient. 'This' is idantā, the total universe. The entire universe is Samsāra- Samsarati iti samsārah i.e. 'that which is always on the move', that which is continuous 'process'. Etymologically the word samsāra also means 'wandering through'. This is vis, poison, because 'this', idantā, samsāra separates us (visnāti, to separate) from Śiva. This samsāra is mind, thought-construct, vikalpa, the dichotomizing activity of mind, thought (in the words of J. Krishnamurthy), empirical individual, thought gives the delusion (sense) of thinker, thought is thinker (J. K.), mala, jīva, sakala pramātā (in all seven pramātās viz. Śiva, Mahāmantreśa, Mantreśa, Mantra, Vijañākala, Pralavākala and sakala, in Mahāmantreśa or mahāmantreśvara is Sadāśiva). Samsāra creates the personal nature of an aspirant unlike to Siva nature. This is avesa which identifies (not unites because here an aspirant simply re-cognises his Śiva nature which he has forgetten. He has not to unite with Siva. He is Siva) the aspirant with Siva by disappearing the personal nature or samsāra. As Abhinava Gupta states and clears in the verse 173 (āhnika one, the Tantrāloka), āveša means the subordination or disappearance of the personal nature of the aspirant and his identification with the divine nature of Śiva- Āveśaśca asvatantrasya vatadrūpanimajjanāt... This is Samāveśa, Sam-ā-viś, meaning to enter into. mergence or identification (of the individual self with the Universal Self, of the citta with the citi, the Highest Lord, the Parama Śiva). In this state, the śuddha vikalpa 'I am Śiva and this world is nothing but the splendour of my own self (viśvāhantā bhāva)' merges into śuddha adhvā, Sadāsiva, the everbenevolent, the sādākhva tattva (sat ākhvā vatah). That the viśvottīrna (transcendent) is viśvāhantā (emanant). The emanant is vimarsa or spanda or sakti of the transcendent, Parama Śiva. The splendour of Parama Śiva. movement proves and indicates the existence of a being. Movement (immoveable as J.K. states) is Śakti and the being (i.e. Absolute) is Śiva. One can not enter into the state of Siva or Bhairava without the door or mouth which is Śakti or Bhairavī, as Bhairava puts forward the truth of the essential nature (svarūpa) of Bhairava while answering Bhairavi, who presents eight forms by asking, which is the true form of Bhairava (in Vijñāna Bhairava). Bhairava replies, the Parā Śakti herself is the mukha or dvāra of Bhairava. Now, Bhairavī and Bhairava, Śakti and Śiva, are created by Sadaśiva as the questioning mind and the answering mind (as explained by M. M. Gopinath Kaviraj ji). Questioning mind is aspirant, jīva bhāva, Arjuna, Naciketā, Yama, Nārada,

ŚRĨTANTŖĀLOKAḤ

Maitreyī and answering mind is God, Śiva bhāva, Kṛṣṇa, Yama, Yudhiṣṭhira, Matanga and Yājñavalkya respectively. If Śiva or Bhairava answers, it is Śaivāgama, if Śakti or Bharavi answers, it is Śāktāgama and, if Vāsudeva answers, it is Pāncarātrāgama. And this happens due to Sadāśiva.
