Objects of Veneration in a Buddhist Temple

THE PRIME OBJECTS for veneration in a Buddhist Temple are namely:

- i. The Stupa which enshrines the bodily-relics (sārirīkā) of the Buddha
- ii. The Bodhi Tree which protected the Buddha during His strive for enlightenment
- iii. The Images of the Buddha which are memorials erected as a mark of remembrance

When visiting a Buddhist Temple, it will be appropriate for devotees to pay homage to these objects in the above respective order.

Veneration can be carried out by reciting the appropriate stanzas and making some offerings like flowers, incense and oil.

An important aspect of venerating either the Stupa or the Bodhi Tree is the custom of circumambulation as a mark of paying respect. This is carried out by walking around the object of veneration, for example, the Bodhi Tree clockwise three times, always

A popular stanza in venerating the three objects is:

*Vandāmi cetiyaṃ sabbam
Sabbatṭhānesu patiṭṭhitam
Sārīrikadhātu Mahā-Bodhiṃ
Buddharūpaṃ sakalaṃ sadā*

*I salute every Stupa
that stands in any place,
the bodily relics,
the great Bodhi Tree and
All images of the Buddha.*

Scriptural sanction for Stupa veneration is found in the Buddha's Teaching of the Mahā-Parinibbāna Sutta where the Buddha enumerated four categories of bodily relics of individuals who are worthy to be enshrined in the Stupa namely, the Buddha, a Paccekabuddha, a Disciple of the Buddha and a Universal Monarch.

keeping the object on your right and with both palms together.

Offering of Flowers, Oil Lamps and Incense

IT IS A COMMON SIGHT in Buddhist temples to see devotees, young and old offering flowers before an image or sacred objects, lighting an oil lamp or burning incense in the name of the Buddha.

While learning to appreciate the aesthetic aspect of things, they also learn to be generous, to let go, and above all to honour the Buddha — the Teacher, the Dhamma-the Teaching and the Saṅgha — the Community of Buddha's disciples.

When a Buddhist offers flowers or lights an oil lamp and ponders over the supreme qualities of the Buddha, he is not praying to anyone; these are not rites or rituals or acts of worship.

The flowers that soon fade, and the flames that die down, reflect to him of the impermanence (anicca) of all conditioned things.

The image serves as an object of concentration or for meditation. A Buddhist gains inspiration and endeavours to emulate the qualities of the master.

Those who do not understand the significance of this simple offering hastily conclude it as idol worshipping which is incorrect.

Pūjā

Pūjā Is A Gesture of paying homage, usually that of raising the hands and palms together (añjali).

A Buddhist pays homage to the Stupa (pagoda), the Bodhi Tree and the Buddha rūpa (image).

Besides these three objects of veneration, a Buddhist also pays respect to his Guru (teacher) and his elders (parents).

Five-Point Veneration

Both palms, elbows, knees, toes and forehead are placed on the floor during reverence before a Buddha image or any sacred objects of veneration.

Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta

The First Sermon

(The Discourse Setting the Wheel of the Doctrine in motion)

The Buddha delivering his first sermon “Dhammacakkappavattana Sutta” after Enlightenment, to a group of five ascetics on the full moon day of July.

THUS HAVE I HEARD: At
one time, the Exalted One
was living
near Varanasi,
at Isipatana
near the Deer Park. Then

the Exalted One spoke to the group of five monks: “These two extremes, O monks, should not be practiced by one who has gone forth [from the household life]. What are the two? That which is linked with sensual desires, which is low, vulgar, common, unworthy, and useless, and that which is linked with self-torture, which is painful, unworthy, and useless. By avoiding these two extremes the Tathāgata [Buddha] has gained the knowledge of the middle path which gives vision and knowledge, and leads to calm, to clairvoyances, to enlightenment, to Nibbāna.”

✿ “Now this, O monks, is the Noble Truth of suffering: birth is suffering, old age is suffering, death is suffering, sorrow, grieving, dejection, and despair are suffering.

Contact with unpleasant things is suffering, not getting what you want is also suffering. In short, the five aggregates of grasping are suffering.”
✿ “Now this, O monks, is the Noble Truth of the arising of suffering: that craving which leads to rebirth, combined with longing and lust for this and that-craving for sensual pleasure, craving for rebirth, craving for cessation of birth.” “Now this, O monks, is the Noble Truth of the cessation of suffering: It is the complete cessation without remainder of that craving, the abandonment, release from, and non-attachment to it.”
✿ “Now this, O monks, is the Noble Truth of the path that leads to the cessation of suffering: This is the Noble Eightfold Path.”

“Now monks, as long as my threefold knowledge and insight regarding these Noble Truths were not well purified, so long, O monks, I was not sure that in this world I had attained the highest complete awakening.”

“But when my threefold knowledge and insight in these Noble Truths with their twelve divisions were well purified, then, O monks, I was sure that in this world I had attained the highest complete awakening.”

“Now knowledge and insight have arisen in me, so that I know: My mind’s liberation is assured; this is my last existence; for me there is no rebirth.”

THE BUDDHIST FLAG has blue-yellow-red-white-orange vertical stripes, each 1/6 of the distance from the hoist.

The sixth stripe consists of 5 horizontal stripes of the same color starting from the top. The right hand vertical orange stripe merges with the bottom horizontal orange stripe.

The Buddhist flag, first hoisted in 1885 in Sri Lanka, is a symbol of faith and peace used through-out the world to represent the Buddhist faith. The six colors of the flag represent the colors of the aura that emanated from the body of the Buddha when he attained enlightenment under the Bodhi Tree. The horizontal stripes represent the races of the world living in harmony and the vertical stripes represent eternal world peace. The colors symbolize the perfection of Buddhahood and the Dharma.

The Blue light that radiated from the Buddha's hair symbolizes the spirit of Universal Compassion for all beings. The light that radiated from the Buddha's epidermis symbolizes the Middle Way which avoids all extremes and brings balance and liberation. The Red light that radiated from the Buddha's flesh symbolizes the blessings that the practice of the Buddha's Teaching brings. The Orange light that radiated from the Buddha's bones and teeth symbolizes the purity of the Buddha's Teaching and the liberation it brings. The Orange light that radiated from the Buddha's palms, heels and lips symbolizes the unshakable Wisdom of the Buddha's Teaching.

The combination color symbolizes the universality of the Truth of the Buddha's Teaching. Therefore, the overall flag represents that regardless of race, nationality, division or color, all sentient beings possess the potential of Buddhahood.

The six colours are better interpreted as:

blue	: signifying the concept of loving kindness and peace in Buddhism.
yellow	: signifying the Middle Path, i.e. the complete absence of form and emptiness.
red	: signifying achievement, wisdom, virtue, fortune and dignity.
white	: signifying purity, emancipation, that the Dharma will always exist regardless of time or space.
orange	: The essence of Buddhism which is full of wisdom, strength and dignity.

Combination of these colours signifies that it is the one and only Truth.

The horizontal bars signify peace and harmony between all races through out the world while the vertical bars represent eternal peace within the world. In simple terms, the Buddhist Flag implies that there is no discrimination of races, nationality, areas or skin colour; that every living beings possess the Buddha Nature and all have the potential to become a Buddha.

THE VANDANĀ IS A COMPILATION of Buddhist recitals in conjunction with the Vesak Celebration 2002. This compilation includes the Album of Pali Devotional Chanting and Hymns.

The Pāli Devotional Chanting includes recitals for taking refuge in the Triple Gem, recital of Five Precepts, stanzas of symbolic offerings of lights, incense and flowers to the Buddha, the Bodhi Tree, and Pagodas, transference of merits to celestial beings and departed relatives, in addition to the selected suttas for blessings. You may listen to the recording and practise along with your chanting.

The Pāli Devotional Hymns accompanied by music in this recording includes forty-six selected verses from the Dhammapada. The Dhammapada or the Words of Truth spoken by the Buddha was for the benefit of all human beings. As vindicated by the Buddhist tradition for more than two thousand and five hundred years, various methods such as this will contribute towards guiding the society to preserve and practise meaningful values of life that bring about peace and happiness.

It will be meritorious to reflect on the sublime qualities of the Buddha, the Dhamma and the Sangha while listening to both devotional chanting and recital of hymns.

May the Vandanā be an inspiration in your continuous practice of boundless loving-kindness, compassion, appreciative joy, equanimity and great wisdom.

May you be well and happy with the Blessings of the Noble Triple Gem!

Vandanā
Pāli Devotional Chanting

IT IS BENEFICIAL for every Buddhist to recite daily at least a few verses from the Vandanā, recalling to mind the sublime qualities of the Buddha, the Dhamma and the Saṅgha. Contemplation on these great qualities will make our minds calm, peaceful and serene.

The Suttas or discourses by the Buddha recited for protection are known as Paritta, which means the Suttas that protect us all around, warding off dangers, calamities and disasters and bringing in success, prosperity, good health, peace and harmony. They contain words of blessings in addition to the philosophical, psychological and ethical implications.

Chanting and listening to the Suttas, which contain fruitful characteristics will help us to repeat our reflections on them, preventing our minds from unwholesome and evil tendencies related to greed, hatred and delusion. Chanting the Suttas will guide you to reflect on the Buddha, the Dhamma, and the Saṅgha and thus gain true understanding of the path to Peace and Happiness.

The Three Refuges

I go to the Buddha as my refuge
I go to the Dhamma as my refuge
I go to the Saṅgha as my refuge

For the second time, I go to the Buddha as my refuge
For the second time, I go to the Dhamma as my refuge,
For the second time, I go to the Saṅgha as my refuge

For the third time, I go to the Buddha as my refuge
For the third time, I go to the Dhamma as my refuge
For the third time, I go to the Saṅgha as my refuge.

Five Precepts

I undertake to observe the precept to abstain
from destroying living beings.

I undertake to observe the precept to abstain
from taking things not given.

I undertake to observe the precept to abstain
from sexual misconduct.

I undertake to observe the precept to abstain
from false speech.

I undertake to observe the precept to abstain
from liquor causing intoxication and heedlessness.

Salutation to The Buddha

Thus indeed is the Blessed One:
He is the Holy One,
Fully Enlightened,
Endowed with clear vision and virtuous conduct,
Sublime, the Knower of the worlds,
The incomparable Leader of men to be tamed,
The Teacher of Gods and men,
Enlightened and Blessed.

The Buddhas of the ages past,
The Buddhas that are yet to come,
The Buddhas of the present age,
I always pay homage to them.

No other refuge do I seek;
The Buddha is my matchless refuge,
By the might of this truth,
May joyous victory be mine!

With my bows I humbly worship,
The blessed dust on His sacred feet,
If I have done wrong to the Enlightened,
May the Enlightened forgive me.

Salutation to the Doctrine

The Dhamma of the Blessed One
Is perfectly expounded,
To be seen here and now,
Not delayed in time,
Inviting one to come and see,
Onward leading (to Nibbāna),
To be known by the wise,
Each for himself.

The Dhammas of the ages past,
The Dhammas that are yet to come,
The Dhammas of the present age,
I always pay homage to them.

No other refuge do I seek;
The Dhamma is my matchless refuge;
By the might of this truth
May joyous victory be mine!

With my bows I humbly worship,
The Dhamma triply matchless;
If I have done wrong to the Dhamma,
May the Dhamma forgive me.

Salutation to the Saṅgha of the Blessed One's Disciples

The Saṅgha of the Blessed One's disciples
has entered on the good way;
The Saṅgha of the Blessed One's disciples
has entered on the straight way;
The Saṅgha of the Blessed Ones disciples
has entered on the right path;
The Saṅgha of the Blessed One's disciples
has entered on the proper way;
That is to say, the Four Pairs of Men,
the Eight Types of Persons;
The Saṅgha of the Blessed One's disciples is fit for gifts, fit for hospitality, fit for offerings and fit for reverential salutation
As the incomparable field of merits for the world.

The Saṅgha of the ages past,
The Saṅgha that are yet to come,
The Saṅgha of the present age,
I always pay homage to them.

No other refuge do I seek;
The Saṅgha is my matchless refuge;
By the might of this truth,
May joyous victory be mine!

With my bows I humbly worship,
The Saṅgha triply unrivalled;
If I have done wrong to the Saṅgha
May the Saṅgha forgive me.

Salutation to the Pagodas

I salute every pagoda that stands in any place,
The bodily relics, the great Bodhi tree and
All images of the Buddha.

Salutation to the Bodhi Tree

Seated at whose base
The Teacher overcame all foes
Attaining omniscience
That very Bodhi Tree do I adore.

These great trees of Enlightenment
Venerated by the Lord of the world;
I, too, shall salute you;
May my homage be to you — O, Great Bodhi!

I pay homage to the foot of the Bodhi tree,
(Where the Buddha spent seven weeks after the Supreme Enlightenment),
Firstly cross-legged at the Bodhi Tree,
Secondly watching the Bodhi Tree,
Thirdly taking a cloister walk,
Fourthly in a Jewelled Chamber,
Fifthly at the Ajapāla Tree,
Sixthly with the Mucalinda Nāga,
And seventhly at Rājāyatana Tree.

Blue sapphire-hued leaves, white trunk brightly shining,
Reverenced by the lotus like eyes of the Teacher,
And yielding the highest blessing viz the ultimate Enlightenment,
That mighty Bodhi like unto a glorious tree celestial,
Always do I salute.

Offering of Lights

With lights brightly shining
Abolishing this gloom
I adore the Enlightened One,
The Light of the three worlds.

Offering of Incense

With perfumed incense
And fragrant smoke
I worship the Exalted One,
Who is great and worthy of worship.

Offering of Flowers

This mass of flowers fresh hued and odorous
I offer at the sacred lotus-like feet of the Noble Sage.

I worship the Buddha with these flowers;
May this virtue be helpful for my emancipation;
Just as these flowers fade, our body will undergo decay.

Transference of Merits to All Celestial Beings

May all beings inhabiting space and earth,
Devas and Nagas of mighty powers
Having shared this merit
Long protect the Dispensation!

May all beings inhabiting space and earth,
Devas and Nagas of mighty powers
Having shared this merit
Long protect the Teaching!

May all beings inhabiting space and earth,
Devas and Nagas of mighty powers
Having shared this merit
Long protect me and others!

May all Devas share this merit,
Which we have thus accumulated
For the acquisition of all kinds
Of happiness and prosperity!

May all Bhūtas share this merit,
Which we have thus accumulated
For the acquisition of all kinds
Of happiness and prosperity!

May all beings share this merit,
Which we have thus accumulated
For the acquisition of all kinds
Of happiness and prosperity!

Discourse on Blessings

Thus have I heard.

At one time the Lord was staying at Anthapiṇḍika's garden in the Jeta Grove, near Sāvattḥi.

Then as the night was far spent,
a deity whose radiance lit up the entire grove, came to the presence of the Lord,
drew near, saluted Him and standing at one side
addressed Him in verse:

1. Many Gods and many men
Yearning after what is good
Have pondered on blessings;
Pray, tell me the highest blessing.
2. Not to associate with fools,
To keep the company of the wise,
To honour those worthy of respect,
This is the highest blessing.
3. To have a suitable place to live,
To have done meritorious deeds in the past,
And to set oneself in the right course,
This is the highest blessing.

The Discourse on Jewels

1. Whatsoever beings are here assembled
Whether terrestrial or celestial
May all beings be happy!
Moreover, may they attentively listen to my words!

2. Accordingly, give good heed, all ye beings!
Show your love to humans who
Day and night, bring offerings to you
Wherefore guard them zealously.

3. Whatsoever treasure there be either here or
In the world beyond or whatever precious jewels
In the heavens, yet there is none comparable with the Accomplished One.
Verily, in the Buddha is this precious jewel.
By this truth, may there be happiness!

4. The tranquil Sage of the Sakyas realized
That cessation, passion-free, immortality supreme;
There is naught comparable with His Dhamma.
Verily, in the Dhamma is this precious jewel.
By this truth, may there be happiness!

Ratana Sutta

1. Yānīdha bhūtāni samāgatāni
Bhummāni vā yāni va antalikkhe
Sabbeva bhūta sumanā bhavantu!
Atho pi sakkacca suṇantu bhāsitaṃ

2. Tasmā hi bhūtā nisāmetha sabbe
Mettam karotha mānusiya pajāya
Divā ca ratto ca haranti ye baliṃ
Tasmā hi ne rakkhatha appamattā

3. Yaṅkiñci vittaṃ idha vā huraṃ vā
Saggesu vā yaṃ ratanaṃ paṇītaṃ
Na no samaṃ atthi tathāgatena
Idam pi Buddhhe ratanaṃ paṇītaṃ
Etena saccena suvatthi hotu!

4. Khayaṃ virāgaṃ amataṃ paṇītaṃ
Yadajjhagā sakyamunī samāhito
Na tena dhammena samatthi kiñci
Idam pi dhamme ratanaṃ paṇītaṃ
Etena saccena suvatthi hotu!

5. That sanctity praised by the Buddha Supreme
Is described as 'concentration without interruption';
There is naught like that concentration.
Verily, in the Dhamma is this precious jewel.
By this truth, may there be happiness!
6. Those Eight Individuals, praised by the virtuous,
They constitute four pairs.
They, the worthy of offerings,
The disciples of the Welcome One
To these gifts given yield abundant fruits.
Verily, in the Saṅgha is this precious jewel.
By this truth, may there be happiness!
7. With steadfast mind, applying themselves thoroughly
In the dispensation of Gotama
Exempt (from passion), they have attained
To that which should be attained
And plunging into the deathless,
They enjoy the peace obtained without price.
Verily, in the Saṅgha is this precious jewel.
By this truth, may there be happiness!
8. Just as a firm post, sunk in the earth,
Cannot be shaken by the four winds;
Even so do I declare Him to be a righteous person
Who thoroughly perceives the Noble Truths.
Verily, in the Saṅgha is this precious jewel.
By this truth, may there be happiness!

5. Yaṃ buddhasettho parivaṇṇayī sucim
Samādhimānantarikaññaṃamāhu
Samādhinā tena samo na vijjati
Idam pi dhamme ratanaṃ paṇītaṃ

Te pattipattā amataṃ vigayha
Laddhā mudhā nibbutiṃ bhuñjamānā
Idam pi saṅghe ratanaṃ paṇītaṃ
Etena saccena suvatthi hotu!

8. Yathindakhīlo paṭhaviṃ sito siyā
Catubbhi vātebhi asampakampiyo
Tathūpamaṃ sappurisaṃ vadāmi
Yo ariyasaccāni avecca passati
Idam pi saṅghe ratanaṃ paṇītaṃ
Etena saccena suvatthi hotu!

9. Those who comprehend clearly the Noble Truths, well taught by Him of wisdom deep, do not however,
exceeding heedless they may be, undergo an eighth birth.
Verily, in the Saṅgha is this precious jewel.
By this truth, may there be happiness!
10. For him with acquisition of insight, three conditions come to naught, namely self-illusion, doubt and indulgence in (wrong) rites and ceremonies, should there be any. From the four states of misery, he is absolutely freed and is incapable of committing the six heinous crimes.
Verily, in the Saṅgha is this precious jewel.
By this truth, may there be happiness!
11. Whatever evil deed he does,
Whether by deed, word or thought,
He is incapable of hiding it,
For it hath been said that such an act is impossible for one who has seen the Path.
Verily, in the Saṅgha is this precious jewel.
By this truth, may there be happiness!
12. Like unto the woodlands groves with blossomed tree-tops
In the first heat of the summer season,
Hath the Sublime Doctrine, that leads to Nibbāna
Has been taught for the highest good.
Verily, in the Buddha is this precious jewel.
By this truth, may there be happiness!

9. Ye ariya saccāni vibhāvayanti

Tathūpamaṃ dhammavaram adesayi
Nibbānagāmiṃ paramaṃ hitāya
Idam pi Buddhhe ratanam paṇītaṃ
Etena saccena suvatthi hotu!

13. The unrivalled Excellent One, the Knower,
The Giver and Bringer of the Excellent
Has expounded the excellent Doctrine.
Verily, in the Buddha is this precious jewel.
By this truth, may there be happiness!
14. Their past is extinct, a fresh becoming there is not.
Their minds are not attached to a future birth;
Their desires grow not;
Those wise ones go out even as this lamp;
Verily, in the Saṅgha is this precious jewel.
By this truth, may there be happiness!
15. We beings here assembled,
Whether terrestrial or celestial,
Salute the Accomplished Buddha,
Honoured by Gods and humans.
May there be happiness!
16. We beings here assembled,
Whether terrestrial or celestial,
Salute the Accomplished Dhamma,
Honoured by Gods and humans.
May there be happiness!
17. We beings here assembled,
Whether terrestrial or celestial,
Salute the Accomplished Saṅgha,
Honoured by Gods and humans.
May there be happiness!

13. Varo varaññu varado varāharo

Saṅghaṃ namassāma suvatthi hotu!

The Discourse on Loving-Kindness

1. He who is skilled in what is good
And who wishes to attain that state of calm
Should act thus:
He should be able, upright,
Obedient, gentle and humble.
2. Contented, easily supportable with few duties,
Of right livelihood, controlled in senses,
Discreet, not imprudent,
Not to be greedily attached to families.
3. He should not commit any slight wrong
Such that other wise men might censure him.
And he should think:
May all beings be happy and secure;
May their hearts be happy!
- 4-5. Whatever living beings there are —
Feeble or strong, long, stout or medium,
Short, small or large, seen or unseen,
Those dwelling far or near,
Those who are born and those who are to be born
May all beings, without exception,
Be happy-hearted!

6. Let no one deceive another
Nor despise any person whatever in any place,
Either in anger or in ill will,
Let one not wish any harm to another.
7. Just as a mother would protect her only child
Even at her own life's risk,
So let him cultivate
A boundless heart towards all beings.
8. Let his heart of boundless love
Pervade the whole world above,
Below and across; with no obstruction,
No hatred and no enmity.
9. Whether he stands, walks, sits or lies down;
As long as he is awake,
He should develop this mindfulness.
This, they say is Divine Abiding here.
10. Not falling into views,
Being virtuous and endowed with insight,
He gives up attachment to sense-desires.
Truly, he does not come again
For conception in a womb.

Vandana

Vandanā Pāḷi Devotional Hymns

IT IS OUR HOPE that this collection of hymns will benefit especially those interested in learning the Pāḷi Language.

Learning by heart the hymns in their original language is a blessing for you since you will eventually benefit from their authentic meanings.

Reflecting on the meaning of these hymns, we could cultivate wholesome qualities within and outside.

The hymns here are selected from both canonical (Tipitaka) and non-canonical texts.

The Nine Virtues of The Buddha

These verses explain some of the great qualities and virtues pertaining to the Buddha.

1. By name He is an Arahant as He is worthy
Even in secret He does no evil
He attained the fruit of Arahantship
To Thee, the Worthy One, my homage be.
2. By wisdom He is Sammasambuddha
By teaching He is Sammasambuddha
A fully Enlightened one is He in the world
To Thee, the fully Enlightened One, my homage be.
3. He is endowed with wisdom and knowledge
His wisdom is made known
The past, future and present He knows
To Thee who is endowed with wisdom and knowledge, my homage be
4. He is Sugata being self-disciplined
Being good He is Sugata
In the sense of going to the good state of Nibbāna
To Thee, the Sugata, my homage be.
5. By name He is Lokavidu
He knows the past and future
Things, beings and space He knows
To Thee, the Knower of worlds, my homage be.

The Stanzas The Lion of Men

These verses were uttered by Princess Yasodharā to her son, Rāhula on the occasion of the Buddha's first visit to Kapilavatthu after His enlightenment. She explained some of the physical characteristics and noble virtues of the Blessed One.

1. His red sacred feet are marked with an excellent wheel;
His long heels are decked with characteristic marks;
His feet are adorned with a chowrie (cārama)
and paraso.
That indeed, is your father, lion of men.
2. He is delicate and a noble Sakya Prince;
His body is full of characteristic marks;
He is a hero amongst men, intent on the welfare of the world.
That, indeed, is your father, lion of men.
3. Like the full moon is His face;
He is dear to Gods and men;
He is like an elephant amongst men;
His gait is graceful as that of an elephant of noble breed.
That, indeed, is your father, lion of men.
4. He is of noble lineage, sprung from the warrior caste;
His feet have been honoured by Gods and men;
His mind is well established in morality and concentration.
That, indeed, is your father, lion of men.

5. Long and prominent is His well-formed nose,
His eye-lashes are like those of a heifer;
His eyes are extremely blue; like a rainbow are
His deep blue eyebrows.
That, indeed, is your father, lion of men.
6. Round and smooth is His well-formed neck;
His jaw is like that of a lion;
His body is like that of king of beast;
His beautiful skin is of bright golden colour.
That, indeed is your father, lion of men.
7. Soft and deep is His sweet voice;
His tongue is as red as vermilion;
His white teeth are twenty in each row.
That, indeed, is your father, lion of men.
8. Like the colour of collyrium is His deep blue hair;
Like a polished golden plate is His forehead;
As white as the morning star is His beautiful tuft
of hair (between the eyebrows).
That, indeed, is your father, lion of men.
9. Just as the moon, surrounded by a multitude of stars,
Follows the sky path, even so goes the Lord of monks,
Accompanied by His disciples.
That, indeed, is your father, lion of men.

Reflection on The Wheel of Life

1. Dependent on ignorance arise volitional activities (moral and immoral)

Dependent on volitional activities arises consciousness

Dependent on consciousness arise mind and matter

Dependent on mind and matter arise the six spheres of sense

Dependent on six spheres of sense arises contact

Dependent on contact arises sensation

Dependent on sensation arises craving

Dependent on craving arises grasping

Dependent on grasping arises becoming

Dependent on becoming arises birth

Dependent on birth arises decay, death, sorrow,
lamentation, pain, grief and despair

Thus does this entire aggregation of suffering arises.

2. Of a truth, the complete separation from and cessation of ignorance leads to the cessation of volitional activities

The cessation of volitional activities leads to the cessation of consciousness

The cessation of consciousness leads to the cessation of mind and matter

The cessation of mind and matter leads to the cessation of six spheres of sense

The cessation of six spheres of sense leads to the cessation of contact

The cessation of contact leads to the cessation of sensation

The cessation of sensation leads to the cessation of craving

The cessation of craving leads to the cessation of grasping

The cessation of grasping leads to the cessation of becoming

The cessation of becoming leads to the cessation of birth

The cessation of birth leads to the cessation of decay, death, sorrow, lamentation, pain, grief and despair

Thus does the cessation of this entire aggregate of suffering result.

Stanzas of Victory and Blessing

1. Creating thousand hands with weapons armed was Mara
seated on the trumpeting, ferocious elephant, Girimekhala.
Him, together with his army, did the Lord of Sages
subdue by means of generosity and other virtues.
By its grace, may joyous victory be thine.
2. More violent than Mara was the indocile, obstinate demon,
Ālavaka who battled with the Buddha throughout the whole night.
Him, did the Lord of Sages subdue by means of
His patience and self-control.
By its grace, may joyous victory be thine.
3. Nālāgiri, the king elephant, highly intoxicated,
It was raging like a forest fire and was terrible as a thunderbolt.
Sprinkling the waters of loving-kindness,
this ferocious beast, did the Lord of Sages subdue.
By its grace, may joyous victory be thine.
4. With uplifted sword, for a distance of three leagues, did wicked Aṅgulimala run.
The Lord of Sages subdued him by His psychic powers.
By its grace, may joyous victory be thine.

5. Her belly bound with faggots, to simulate the bigness of pregnancy,
Ciñcā, with harsh words made foul accusation in the midst of an assemblage.
Her, did the Lord of Sages subdue by His serene and peaceful bearing.
By its grace, may joyous victory be thine.
6. Haughty Saccaka, who ignored truth, was like a banner in controversy, and
His vision was blinded by his own disputations.
Lighting the lamp of wisdom, him did the Lord of Sages subdue.
By its grace, may joyous victory be thine.
7. The wise and powerful serpent, Nandopananda, did the Noble Sage subdue by His psychic powers
through his disciple son — Thera Moggallāna.
By its grace, may joyous victory be thine.
8. The pure, radiant, majestic Brahma Baka, whose hand was grievously bitten by the snake of tenacious heresies, did the Lord of Sages cure with His medicine of wisdom.
By its grace, may joyous victory be thine.
9. The wise one, who daily recites and earnestly remembers these eight verses of joyous victory of the Buddha, will get rid of various misfortunes and gain the bliss of Nibbāna.

Summary of Fourfold Protective Meditation

1. I worship the Buddha, the ocean of virtues.
May all beings be happy and free from enmity.
The body is repulsive and full of bad smell.
All beings, including myself must die.
2. Homage to the Dhamma, preached by the Buddha.
May all beings be happy and free from enmity.
The body is repulsive and full of bad smell.
All beings, including myself must die.
3. Homage to the Saṅgha, the disciples of the Buddha
May all beings be happy and free from enmity.
The body is repulsive and full of bad smell.
All beings, including myself must die.

Stanzas of The Triple Gem

These three stanzas were taught by the Buddha to a youth named Chatta, foreseeing his unfavourable destiny and advising him to take refuge in the Triple Gem for the happiness of his future birth.

1. Who art the chiefest Speaker amongst mankind,
Sākya Sage, O Holy One, whose task is done,
Gone beyond, possessor of power and energy;
To thee, the Well-Gone One, I go for refuge.
2. Exempt from lust, from craving, sorrow-free,
Law unconditioned and delectable,
sweet, potent, profoundly analytic.
To this very Dhamma I go for refuge.
3. Whatever is given bears great fruit 'tis said,
The four Pure Pairs of Persons; and these Eight are people who have realised the Truth;
To this very Saṅgha I go for refuge.

Selected verses from the Dhammapada

THIS COLLECTION OF HYMNS includes forty-six selected verses from the Dhammapada.

The Dhammapada or “The Words of Truth” comprising of 423 verses in Pāli was spoken by the Buddha on some 305 occasions for the benefit of all human beings.

The Dhammapada is a highly venerated and esteemed sacred book for Buddhists.

Those with a mind to understand will gain much from the verses of the Dhammapada.

The moral and philosophical Teachings of the Buddha will benefit us immensely if we cultivate them with right understanding, right effort and right mindfulness in our daily life.

Mental phenomena are preceded by mind,
have mind as their leader,
are made by mind.

If one acts or speaks with an evil mind,
from that sorrow follows him,
as the wheel follows the foot of the ox.

(Verse 1)

Mental phenomena are preceded by mind,
have mind as their leader,
are made by mind.

If one acts or speaks with a pure mind,
from that happiness follows him,
like a shadow not going away.

(Verse 2)

Whoever lives contemplating pleasant things,
with senses unrestrained,
in food immoderate,
indolent, inactive,
him verily Māra overthrows,
as the wind (overthrows) a weak tree.

(Verse 7)

Whoever believes contemplating 'the impurities'
with senses restrained,
in food moderate,
full of faith, full of sustained energy,
him Māra overthrows not,
as the wind (does not overthrow) a rocky mountain.

(Verse 8)

Mano pubbaṅgamā dhammā
 mano seṭṭhā manomayā
Manasā ce paduṭṭhena
 bhāsatī vā karoti vā
Tato naṃ dukkhamanveti

(Verse 1)

Mano pubbaṅgamā dhammā
 mano seṭṭhā manomayā
Manasā ce pasannena
 bhāsatī vā karoti vā
Tato naṃ sukhamanveti
 chayā' va anapāyinī

(Verse 2)

Taṃ ve pasahatī māro
 vāto rukkham' va dubbalaṃ

(Verse 7)

Asubhānupassim viharantaṃ
 indriyesu susaṃvutaṃ
Bhojanamhi ca mattaññuṃ
 saddhaṃ āraddhavīriyaṃ
Taṃ ve nappasahatī māro
 vāto selaṃ' va pabbataṃ

(Verse 8)

Good is restraint of the body.
Good is restraint of speech.
Good is restraint of the mind.
Restraint everywhere is good.
The bhikkhu restrained in every way is freed from all suffering.

(Verse 361)

That bhikkhu who dwells in the Dhamma, who delights in the Dhamma, thinking about the Dhamma, remembering the Dhamma, does not fall away from the sublime Dhamma. (Verse 364)

Though receiving but little, if a bhikkhu does not despise his own gains, even the gods praise such one who is pure in livelihood and is not slothful.

(Verse 366)

He who has no thought of 'I' and 'mine' whatever towards mind and body, he who grieves not for that which has not, he is,
indeed, called a bhikkhu.

(Verse 367)

The bhikkhu who abides in loving-kindness,
who is pleased with the Buddhas Teaching,
attains to that state of peace and happiness,
the stilling of conditioned things.

(Verse 368)

Kāyena saṃvaro sādhu
sādhu vācāya saṃvaro
Manasā saṃvaro sādhu
sādhu sabbattha saṃvaro
Sabbatha saṃvuto bhikkhu

(Verse 361)

(Verse 364)

Appalābho 'pi ce bhikkhu

(Verse 366)

(Verse 367)

Mettā viharī yo bhikkhu
pasanno Buddhasāsane
Adhigacche padaṃ santaṃ
saṅkhārūpasamaṃ sukhaṃ

(Verse 368)

Full of joy, full of confidence in the Buddhas
Teaching, the bhikkhu will attain the Peaceful State, the stilling of conditioned things,
the bliss (supreme).

(Verse 381)

The bhikkhu who, while still young,
devotes himself to the Buddhas Teaching, illuminates this world like the moon freed from a cloud.

(Verse 382)

He who drinks in the Dhamma
lives happily with a serene mind;
the wise man ever delights in the Dhamma revealed by the Ariyas.

(Verse 79)

As a solid rock is
unshaken by the wind,
even so the wise are
unshaken by praise or blame.

(Verse 81)

Heedfulness is the path to the deathless,
heedlessness is the path to death.
The heedful do not die, the heedless are like the dead.

(Verse 21)

Pāmojjabahulo bhikkhu
pasanno Buddhasāsane
Adhigacche padaṃ santaṃ
saṅkhārūpasamaṃ sukhaṃ

(Verse 381)

Yo have daharo bhikkhu

(Verse 382)

(Verse 79)

(Verse 81)

Appamādo amatapadaṃ
pamādo maccuno padaṃ
Appamattā na mīyanti
ye pamattā yathā matā

(Verse 21)

Distinctly understanding this (difference),
the wise (intent) on heedfulness rejoice
in heedfulness, delighting in the realm of the Ariyas.

(Verse 22)

The fault of others is easily seen,
but one's own is hard to see.
One winnows the faults of others
indeed like chaff, but hides one's own as a crafty gambler hides a bad throw.

(Verse 252)

By oneself, indeed, is evil done;
by oneself is one defiled.
By oneself is evil left undone;
by oneself, indeed, is one purified.
Purity and impurity depend on oneself.
No one purifies another.

(Verse 165)

Do not think lightly of evil, saying:
It will not come to me.
Even a water-pot is filled
by the falling of drops.
Likewise the fool, gathering it
drop by drop, fills himself with evil.

(Verse 121)

Etaṃ viśesato ñatvā

na maṃ taṃ āgamissati
Udabindu nipātena
udakumbho' pi pūراتि Pūراتि bālo pāpassa
thokathokam' pi ācinaṃ

(Verse 121)

Do not think lightly of good, saying:
It will not come to me.
Even a water-pot is filled
by the falling of drops so the wise man, gathering it drop by drop, fills himself with good.

(Verse 122)

As a border city is guarded both inside and outside, so guard yourself.
Let not the opportunity go by;
for those who miss the opportunity come to grief
when they fall into a woeful state.

(Verse 315)

One should not have regard for the bad deeds of others,
nor the things done and left undone by others,
but only for the things done
and left undone by oneself.

(Verse 50)

As a flower that is lovely and beautiful but is scentless,
Even so fruitless is the well-spoken word of one who does not practise it.

(Verse 51)

Māvamaññetha puññassa
na maṃ taṃ āgamissati
Udabindu nipātena

(Verse 50)

Yathā pi ruciraṃ pupphaṃ

(Verse 51)

As a flower that is lovely,
beautiful and scent laden,
Even so fruitful is the well-spoken word of one who practises it.

(Verse 52)

As from a heap of flowers
many a garland is made,
Even so many good deeds
should be done by one subject to birth and death.

(Verse 53)

By sustained effort, earnestness,
discipline, and self control,
let the wise man make for himself
an island which no flood overwhelms.

(Verse 25)

Better than a thousand utterances,
comprising useless words,
is one single beneficial utterance,
by hearing which one is calmed.

(Verse 100)

Better than a thousand verses,
comprising useless words,
is one single beneficial verse,
by hearing which one is calmed.

(Verse 101)

Yathā pi ruciraṃ pupphaṃ

(Verse 100)

Sahassam api ce gāthā

Ekaṃ gāthāpadaṃ seyyo
yaṃ sutvā upasammati

(Verse 101)

Though one could conquer a million
men in the battlefield,
Yet he, indeed, is the noblest victor
who has conquered himself.

(Verse 103)

What is laughter, what is joy,
when the world is ever burning?
Shrouded by darkness, would you not seek the light ?

(Verse 146)

Through many a birth I wandered in saṃsāra, seeking but not finding, the builder of the house. Sorrowful is it to be born again and again.

(Verse 153)

O house-builder! Thou art seen.
Thou shalt build no house again.
All thy rafters are broken.
Thy ridge-pole is shattered.
My mind has attained the unconditioned.
Achieved is this end of craving.

(Verse 154)

Of whom the mind is properly developed in the elements of enlightenment, who delight in the abandonment of attachment without clinging, they with āsavas extinguished, full of brightness,
have gained Nibbāna in this world.

(Verse 89)

Yo sahaṣṣaṃ sahaṣṣena

(Verse 154)

Yesaṃ sambodhi aṅgesu
sammā cittaṃ subhāvitaṃ
Ādāna paṭinissagge
anupādāya ye ratā
Khīṇāsavā jutīmanto
te loka parinibbutā

(Verse 89)

He who walks in the company of fools has to grieve for a long time.
Association with fools is ever painful,
like associating always with an enemy.
But a wise man is good to associate with, like meeting with relatives.

(Verse 207)

One is not versed in the Dhamma merely because one speaks much.
But he who having heard even a little Dhamma practises with his body, he indeed, is versed in the Dhamma who is not careless about the Dhamma.

(Verse 259)

That sage who knows his former abodes, who sees the blissful and the woeful states, who has reached the end of births, who, with superior wisdom, has perfected himself,
who has completed (the holy life),
and reached the end of all passions,
— him I call a brāhmaṇa.

(Verse 423)

When threatened with danger,
men go to many a refuge,
— hills, woods, groves, trees,
and shrines.

(Verse 188)

Bālasaṅgatacārī hi
dīgham addhāna socati
Dukkho bālehi saṁvāso

(Verse 423)

Bahuṃ ve saraṇaṃ yanti

(Verse 188)

But such a refuge is not safe refuge, not the best refuge.
One is not liberated from all evil consequences of existence (dukkha) for having come to such a refuge.

(Verse 189)

He who has gone for refuge to the Buddha, the Dhamma, and the Saṅgha, sees with right knowledge
 the four Noble Truths:

(Verse 190)

Sorrow, the Cause of Sorrow, the Transcending of Sorrow and the Noble Eightfold Path which leads to the Cessation of Sorrow.

(Verse 191)

This, indeed, is refuge, secure.
 This, indeed, is refuge supreme.
By seeking such refuge one is released from all sorrow.

(Verses 192)

The best of paths is the Eightfold Path.
 The best of truths are the four Sayings.
Non-attachment is the best of states.
 The best of bipeds is the Seeing One.

(Verse 273)

(Verse 273)

This is the only Way.

There is none other for the purity of vision.
Enter on this path.

This causes confusion for Māra.

(Verse 274)

You yourselves should make the effort;
the Tathāgatas are only teachers.

Those who enter this Path and who are meditative,
are delivered from the bonds of Māra.

(Verse 276)

For one who is in the habit of constantly
honouring and respecting the elders, Four blessings increase —
age, beauty, bliss, and strength.

(Verse 109)

Rare is birth as a human being.
Hard is the life of mortals.
Hard is the hearing of the Sublime Truth.
Rare is the appearance of the Buddhas.

(Verse 182)

Happy is the birth of Buddhas,
happy is the teaching of the sublime Dhamma.
Happy is the unity of the Saṅgha,
happy is the discipline of the united ones.
